WYOMING AND IDAHO.

Solid Democratic Opposition to the Proposed States.

BILL SPRINGER S VAIN PROTEST

The Tariff Bill Is Ready, but the Sugar Schedule Is Troublesome

SOME REPUBLICANS MAY BOLT

Montana Democratic Officeholders Marked for Removal—Trades Unions Indorse Stanford —Popular Election of Senators

WASHINGTON March 11 — Oregon an office corner Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue] —The democrats under the lead of Bill Springer made a hard fight against the consideration of the Wyoming admission bill to-day, but there were enough republicans present to outvote him and the bill was taken up The same fight will be made on Idaho and probably with the same result There will be a long debate on both bills and it is more than likely that a great deal of the time of the house will be occupied with these ambitious territories for the next two weeks The result is about sure Both will be admitted at this session

A lengthy report has been prepared by the democrats of the committee on territories against the admission of Idaho Opposition to Wyoming will be based upon the woman suffrage clause [illegible] so it is the Mormon disfranchisement The minority in this report says The precise point of difference between the majority and the minority is this [illegible] at the majority assent to and approve of a provision which deprives a citizen of the right of suffrage disqualifies him from holding office and prevents him from serving on juries for criminal conduct imputed to him when he has not been convicted of such criminal conduct while the minority insist that such citizen being otherwise qualified, should be deprived of these rights and privileges on account of alleged crime unless he has been convicted of such crime by some court of competent jurisdiction and where the punishment of such crime or a part thereof is such disqualification

They do not claim any justification of bigamy or polygamy but assert that it must be proven and the man convicted before disfranchisement can be lawfully made The minority report is an apology for the polygamous features of the Mormons and their attempt to fasten themselves upon Idaho

A provision in the enabling act has been to bother the state of Washington with its school lands All grants made for school purposes of sections 16 and 36 previous to the enabling act provided that where settlers had taken and on such sections previous to surveys and where the land had been used for other purposes selections should be made elsewhere to make up the required amount which the state would originally have had A provision was also made to the same effect for land which natural causes rendered [illegible] less in cases where sections 16 and 36 were broken or wholly eliminated by lakes bays [illegible] The enabling act says nothing about [illegible] lands Selections have been made pre [illegible] and about [illegible] 000 acres had been withheld after the enabling act became operative filings were offered for these lands and refused by the commissioner The interested parties appealed [illegible] pending [illegible] will confirm the decision

The ways and means committee have practically agreed [illegible] bill and are ready to report it with the exception of the clause relating to sugars The difference of opinion now is whether to wipe out entirely the tariff on sugar or make a [illegible] per cent reduction. It is believed that in case the [illegible] is adopted the Kansas and California members of the republican party will desert, and a proposition has been made to have the sugar clause considered in caucus and thus whip the obstinate sugar men into line The only objection to this proceeding is that in case sugar was considered in caucus the other articles should also be so considered and that would bring on a debate of months and the tariff bill would never be reported The bill may be expected as soon as some of the important pending measures are clear of the calendar

Many thousands of regimental associations of surviving soldiers of the war of the Rebellion keep as nearly as possible correct rosters of their living comrades and to that end they revise the lists at each recurring annual meeting of their organizations The superintendent of the census is very desirous that officers of these associations should forward to him the latest copies of the rosters referred to which he believes will be efficient aids in the preliminary work of enumeration in connection with the eleventh census of names of organizations and length of service of surviving soldiers sailors and marines and widows of such as have died.

Representative Carter says there will be a general change in all the Montana state offices held by democrats by the 1st of May It has been decided that the needs of the public service demand these changes Mr Carter is of the opinion that good men can be selected from the republican ranks to fill the offices and it this he is carried [illegible] by Colonel Sanders who is soon to be made senator

The Washington branch of the Federation of Labor to-night after discussing Senator Stanford s resolution providing for loans to the people by the government at a very low rate of interest unanimously adopted a resolution approving Senator Stanford s proposition

Senator Mitchell to-day introduced his resolution providing for the election of senators by the people [illegible] will not pass the senate They do not [illegible]

IN THE SENATE

The Immigration Investigation—Defending the Record August Amendment

WASHINGTON March 11 —In the senate the house amendment to the senate concurrent resolution instructing the senate and house committee on immigration to investigate the working of the various laws on immigration was taken up It adds an inquiry into the subject of the purchase of American industries by foreign capital After some discussion the matter went over without action

Among the petitions presented and referred was one from Florida asking for a duty of $1 a box on foreign oranges

Mr [illegible] introduced a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution providing for the election of senators by a direct vote

Mr Morrill offered a resolution which was agreed to directing the secretary of the interior to report any information in the possession of his department in relation to the authorizing of a lottery company by the Indian territorial government [illegible]

Hoar called up the resolution reported by him yesterday for the exclusion from the Record of sentences interpolated by Call in the report of his remarks in the discussion with Chandler some weeks ago

[illegible] opposed the resolution as being without precedent

After some further debate Eustis said there was [illegible] exaggeration [illegible] what was uttered in the house as compared with what was published [illegible] the language is the same [illegible] although he [illegible] probably [illegible] than that uttered on the floor

[illegible] the question by an allusion [illegible] he [illegible] inserted [illegible] honest [illegible] house [illegible] he stated [illegible] he should not have had [illegible] Now [illegible] additional statement that this [illegible] of the senate [illegible] and that [illegible] character [illegible] from Louisiana [illegible] in the Record [illegible] presiding officer [illegible]

Louisiana the defense of murder and it was to that language he excepted

A sentence written out by the official reporter having been read by the clerk Daniel said those were not the words he excepted to. At the suggestion of Hoar Daniel and the reporter retired to find the objectionable sentence After a few minutes Daniel returned and said as it was difficult to find the sentence he would not press the matter

Edmunds said the Record purported to be a true account of the proceedings but the Senator from Florida so far forgot himself as to cause to be printed an apparently carefully drawn up statement imputing to a senator from another state and in new language a crime

After further debate Call submitted some remarks in his own vindication and quoted some of Chandler s expressions imputing to him (Call) the possibility of provoking homicide etc The vote resulted yeas 7 nays 11. No quorum. Among the affirmative votes were Gray Pugh, Turpie and Vance Without disposing of the matter the senate adjourned

IN THE HOUSE.

Public Building Bill Passed—Wyoming Admission Bill Reported

WASHINGTON March 11 —In the house in pursuance of the agreement of Saturday the public building bills that had passed the committee of the whole came up this morning with the previous question ordered The bills were passed They provide for the erection of buildings at various minor towns, with an aggregate expenditure of $1,50[illegible] 000

Enloe as a matter of privilege moved the discharge of the committee on invalid pensions from further consideration of the resolution calling on the secretary of the interior for evidence taken and reported to him by the committee appointed to investigate the management of the pension office under Commissioner Tanner Commissioner Tanner had kept in good faith the promises he had made on the stump and the country wanted to know the reason why he had been kicked out The entire administration of the pension office should be thoroughly investigated and overhauled by a committee of the house The day for waving the bloody shirt as an excuse for robbing the public treasury ought to pass. If there had been robbery and corruption let the men who were concerned in it be consigned to eternal infamy

Morrill, chairman of the committee on invalid pensions said he had never heard of the resolution until to-day He had been informed by the clerk of the committee that it had never been presented to him

Yoder, a member of the committee corroborated this statement

In view of Merrill s statement Enloe withdrew his motion

Baker from the committee on territories reported the bill for the admission of Wyoming He asked immediate consideration of the bill which under the new rules is a privileged measure.

Springer protested against this action It had been agreed, he said in the committee on territories that the bill should not be called up until consideration of the Oklahoma bill was completed

Baker, although not denying that such an agreement had been made said Perkins who was in charge of the Oklahoma bill had given consent that the Wyoming bill be proceeded with

Springer raised the question of consideration and the house decided to consider the bill by a strict party vote On a point of order, raised by Springer the bill was referred to committee of the whole and Baker moved that the house go into such committee Springer interjected a motion to adjourn which was defeated.

Baker s motion was agreed to, and, accordingly the house went into committee of the whole The bill having been read Baker denied that he had acted in bad faith in calling up the matter at this time The purpose of the gentleman from Illinois (Springer) was to delay consideration of the measure until he had an opportunity to bring in an omnibus bill.

Springer reiterated the statement that the bill was called up in violation of the agreement in committee The gentleman from Kansas (Perkins) had told him he was much surprised when the Wyoming bill was called up. All he (Springer) asked was that reasonable time should be given to the minority to prepare amendments which it desired to offer Pending further discussion the committee rose and the house adjourned

PAN AMERICAN STEAMERS

Lines to Connect the Mexican Gulf and the Caribbean Sea—Subsidies Advised

WASHINGTON March 11.—At a meeting of the Pan American conference yesterday a report was received from the committee to consider means of extending and improving facilities for commercial postal and telegraph communication between the countries that border upon the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean sea The committee says telegraph rates make it practically impossible to do business over the present lines and recommends that steps be taken to secure a moderate scale of charges. This failing charters should be granted to independent cable companies.

The committee says plans have been discussed by capitalists of this country for the establishment of rapid steamship service between Tampa, Fla. and Mobile, Ala, and the ports of Colon, Port Limon, Costa Rica and Greytown Nicaragua Such a line would shorten the time of transporting mails from New York or Chicago to Colon to six and a half days. Similar lines connecting New Orleans with Caribbean ports are suggested by the committee

The committee in conclusion recommends to all nations bordering on the Gulf of Mexico and Caribbean sea the granting of government aid in the establishment of first class steamship service

TAULBEE IS DEAD

Correspondent Kincaid Locked Up Pending the Coroner's Inquest.

WASHINGTON March 11 — Ex Congressman Preston Taulbee of Kentucky who was shot in the head by Charles E. Kincaid correspondent of the Louisville Times in the house wing of the capitol on the afternoon of February 28 died at 4 45 o clock this morning at Providence hospital Taulbee had been unconscious some time before his death, and the end was painless

Kincaid who had been out on bail was arrested a very short time after Taulbee s death and locked up to await the action of the coroner Kincaid made no effort to escape while at liberty He announced his intention to surrender to the authorities in case the shot resulted fatally

A reporter visited the station house soon after Kincaid s arrest and found him looking pale and sickly He seemed entirely oblivious to his surroundings and is a wreck of his former self Kincaid s condition is serious, and it is the opinion of many of his friends that he will not live to stand his trial.

Chinese Merchants Are Excluded

WASHINGTON March 11.—Acting upon the advice of the attorney general Secretary Windom has decided that Chinese merchants coming to this country for the first time provided with a certificate as provided by section 6 of the act of July 5, 1884, cannot be permitted to land in the United States notwithstanding the fact that they are not laborers.

THE CRUEL NAVY RULERS.

Investigation of McCalla Begun—Trial of Captain Healy

NEW YORK March 11.—The board of inquiry to investigate the charges against Commander McCalla, of the United States man-of-war Enterprise met to-day The court went on board the Enterprise and Admiral Kimberly commanded all the men and officers who had any complaint to make to step forward After a brief hesitation a seaman stepped forward and was followed by others and one marine Chief Engineer Whistler and [illegible] Kline ranged themselves with the men In all eleven came forward An adjournment was then taken till to-morrow

SAN FRANCISCO March 11 —The investigation of the charges of cruelty and misconduct against Captain M A Healy of the revenue cutter Bear, was to be resumed to-day but the board granted another continuance till next Tuesday on account of the absence of witnesses for the prosecution

Lew Wallace s Brother-in-Law a Forger

PITTSBURG March 11 —The affairs of the Baeder Glue Company of New York and Pittsburg, which failed several days ago are very much muddled H R. Korn one of the New York partners says that Louis C Haugher the Pittsburg member acknowledges to having obtained large sums on notes to which he signed the firm s name The exact amount is not known [illegible] would reach about $60,000

Haugher is a brother-in-law of General Lew Wallace and has always been held in [illegible] esteem

LA GRANDE ELECTION CONTESTED

Tacoma Murderer Convicted—George Francis Train Has Many Psychic Friends in Tacoma —Women's Relief Corps Convention

PORT TOWNSEND March 11.—Special Telegram.] The crew of the American sealing schooner Lilly L of San Francisco unite in reciting the story of one of the most terrible crimes ever committed if true The vessel was commanded by Captain Moorehouse whom the crew charge of willfully poisoning Jesse H Sturgess aged 19 whose relatives reside on a farm near Portland Or Sturgess shipped in San Francisco as a boat puller Shortly after going to sea his bunk was flooded and he contracted rheumatic fever The captain refused to give him proper treatment, when the crew carried the boy aft and the hunters took care of him He improved slowly and was about well when he was given some whiskey and water as a tonic. Next day Sturgess asked the cook for another drink

The captain was drunk and deliberately poured over fifty drops of laudanum in the water which was given to the boy to drink, saying if that does not fix him I will give him a dose that will." This story is sworn to by the cook and verified by one of the hunters. The cook mysteriously disappeared to-day and cannot be found. After the burial the captain told several members of the crew that he had smoothed the way for the boy

Six members of the crew were interviewed to-day and all united on the same story regarding the poisoning of the boy They compelled the captain to come to this port and the captain gave the cook some money to leave town before warrants could be sworn out The captain is drunk and refuses to be interviewed The matter has been laid before the United States authorities

Three men deserted the schooner in an open boat off Humboldt at sea and have not since been heard from.

LA GRANDE ELECTION CONTEST.

Defeated Candidates Claim That the Opposition Tickets Were Illegal

LA GRANDE March 11 —Special Telegram.]—The result of the city election here yesterday has caused widespread dissatisfaction and rejoicing on the other side There were 400 votes cast for mayor F S Stanley defeating C H Finn by a majority of 64. Stanley was the nominee of the party now in control while Finn was on the so-called anti ring ticket A contest will be the result, as papers are being filed for suit now The ground of contest will be the size of the Stanley tickets and alleged fraud.

Section 30 of Hill s annotated laws of Oregon says All tickets used at each special or municipal election shall be six inches long and four inches wide No ticket not conforming to all the requirements of this section shall be received or counted by the judges of any general, special or municipal election authorized by law which may hereafter be held in this state This is as provided by an act of the legislature approved February 20, 1890 All the tickets were printed upon the paper furnished by the secretary of state and the Finn tickets were of the size required but those of the Stanley party were less than the prescribed size. Upon this ground it is proposed to endeavor to prevent Stanley from taking his seat as mayor. This action will raise a question as to the constitutionality of this law and as to the equity of allowing an innocent voter to be deprived of his vote because of a stupid oversight on the part of party managers. On the other hand it is alleged that the tickets were made smaller than the regulation size so as to distinguish them and compel those who could be so influenced to vote to suit the leaders

NEWS FROM BAKER CITY.

The Sampling Works Assured — Stock Losses in Harney County

BAKER CITY March 11 —[Special Telegram]—An enthusiastic mass meeting was held in Rust's hall last evening to further consider the proposition of the Giroux Amalgam Company relative to erection of sampling works and machine shops at this place. Over $17 000 is already subscribed of the $25,000 asked and that has been secured in one day s canvass The whole amount is now assured and the proposed plant will be erected during the summer

NEWS FROM ASTORIA.

Discovery of Petroleum—Salvation Army at the Hoodlum's Mercy

ASTORIA, March 11.—[Special Telegram.]—John C Davis and Jacob Arndt, who have been drilling for coal on the Davis farm on John Day river, a few miles from the city, the past three weeks, have struck petroleum at a depth of 150 feet. Meager particulars only are obtainable.

The city council to-night discussed Salvation Army regulation, but took no action. Hoodlums have been assaulting the soldiers of this army almost nightly of late, and the city marshal and attorney wanted the council to take some action, but a refusal announced that they would no longer protect the army or prosecute their assailants. Much trouble is expected.

SEATTLE TWELVE MILES SQUARE.

Proposed Extension of Boundaries—Water From Lake Washington

SEATTLE, March 11.—[Special Telegram.]—The council to-night passed a resolution asking the board of county commissioners to submit the question to the people of extension of the city limits so as to take in, on the north, the Salmon Bay and Smith's Cove districts, [illegible] and Fremont and Edgewater on the east, [illegible] on the south South Park addition and the race track quarter, and on the west West Seattle. This will cover the whole of the Seattle Metropolitan district, making a corporate area of about twelve miles square, and giving the city a population of at least 50 000.

The council to-night practically decided to give up for the present the scheme of bringing water supply from Cedar river, a distance of twenty-seven miles, at a cost of about two and a half millions, and will increase the present Lake Washington system, making the distributing system the same as that proposed for the Cedar river supply, at a cost of $800 000. This will give a supply sufficient for a city of 100 000 people, and the distributing system can be used when the Cedar river supply is used at some future time. It would take three years to bring water from Cedar river, whereas the Lake Washington system can be enlarged in three months.

RAILROAD FOR SALE

The Donahue Line, Whose Proceeds Will Go to Charity.

TWO GREAT COMPANIES MAY BID

Alaska Travel Will Be Large This Summer, Requiring Three Steamers—Huntington to Visit Portland in April

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—[Special Telegram.]—Just now the San Francisco and North Pacific railroad is much talked of here. Its total mileage is upward of 160 miles, and it runs from Tiburon, across the bay from this city, in a northerly direction to Ukiah. Before President J Mervyn Donahue's death a few days since there was much talk that this road would be extended to Eureka, Cal, and thence along the coast into Southern Oregon, but the officials denied that any definite action had been taken to this end. Colonel Donahue's death may change all the existing plans. The synopsis of his will telegraphed THE OREGONIAN yesterday shows that his property was left almost entirely to charitable institutions. He was almost the sole owner, but he had little property besides this. Any change that might take place in its ownership will not therefore be surprising.

The value of the road is estimated at $6 000 000, or to put it in another way, it is claimed that the road will earn 5 per cent on an investment of $6 000 000, but as it is encumbered to the extent of $4 000 000 by a bond mortgage, it is thought that by a sale to-day it would not yield over $2 000 000 to the estate of Colonel Donahue.

The sale of the road seems to be a foregone conclusion at no distant day, in order to raise funds for fulfillment of the instructions the will gives to Archbishop Riordan. A gentleman who is individually interested in the road said: "There is not much doubt that the road will be sold at no distant date. Colonel Donahue has willed the bulk of it for charitable purposes, which will make its sale imperative. It is a good piece of property, has terminals on both sides of San Francisco bay that are not to be despised, and it may turn out that some transcontinental line will within a year see in the road a chance to get a foothold in this part of the state. In the past twelve months there have been a good many stories afloat as to negotiations between [illegible] and Donahue about his road. I don't know whether the Union Pacific ever figured to buy it, but it is likely that either [illegible] or the Southern Pacific will be the purchaser if it is thrown on the market."

THE SACRAMENTO ELECTION

Republican Candidate for Mayor Defeated—Rest of the Ticket Wins

SACRAMENTO, March 11.—The city election passed off quietly to-day, but a large vote was polled. The result was a great surprise, as F J Gregory, republican candidate for mayor, was defeated by W D Comstock, democrat, by forty-one votes. The balance of the republican candidates were elected by large majorities.

Major Gregory, when interviewed to-night, said he had been defeated by treachery. He said: "Three months ago a well known citizen of Sacramento told me he intended to dispose of me as a possible candidate for governor by seeing that I was defeated for mayor." Gregory claimed that money had been used against him to-day, and he thought he knew where it came from.

The vote of the city was 49[illegible], quite up to the usual vote at local elections, but over 1000 less than was cast at the last presidential election. Gregory was the only man on the republican ticket defeated. Hart, for city attorney, has a majority of 1500; Drew, for chief of police, 1159, and Howard, for fire commissioner, 960.

ALASKA EXCURSION STEAMERS

Three Vessels on the Route—Heavy Travel Anticipated

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—[Special Telegram.]—The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's agents, Messrs Goodall, Perkins & Co, are making preparations for the coming Alaskan excursion season, which they expect will be one of the heaviest on record. Anticipating increased passenger traffic, the company has decided to run three steamers on this route during the summer. The steamer Queen, formerly the Queen of the Pacific, which has been running to Victoria and Sound points while the Umatilla has been undergoing repairs, has been relieved by the latter again, and has taken the place of the Umatilla on the dry dock here. She will be entirely renovated, and will receive thirty-six new staterooms, making ninety-five in all. When she comes off the dock she will be fitted up in splendid order, and will be placed on the Alaska route, making her first trip leaving Tacoma June 2, her next June 17, on which occasion a Raymond-Whitcomb excursion party will occupy fifty-six staterooms. The Queen will continue to make regular trips during the season up to September.

The steamer City of Topeka, which left here March 1, had previously had fifteen new staterooms added to her, and was entirely renovated. She will also be placed on the Alaskan route, running via Puget Sound during the summer.

The third steamer will be the George W Elder, which ran over the same route during the past season.

A ROW IN PARLIAMENT

Lord Randolph Churchill Hits the Tories Hard Blows.

HE MAKES A PARNELL SPEECH

Government Supporters Deride With Cries of "Pigott"—Labouchere Tells about the Times' Quest for Evidence

LONDON, March 11.—In the commons this evening Lord Randolph Churchill, resuming the debate on the report of the Parnell commission, said that from beginning to end the proceedings were vitiated by their thoroughly unconstitutional character. When the government decided that a special tribunal must be held that the charges against the Parnellites constituted a prima facie case against the accused. When the government held that there was a prima facie case it was its duty to prosecute criminally.

Churchill then argued the matter on constitutional grounds and defied any lawyer to show precedent or parallel for anything approaching the government's action in appointing a commission constituting three judges to fulfill the functions of judge and jury. He appealed to the house to vote against proceedings so utterly unique and unprecedented. Never within a century and a half has any public man been exposed to such tests and trials as Parnell. Every clause of the inquiry in the house except the first was forced through without debate by the use of closure so ruthless that nothing but the most urgent consideration of public safety could justify it. The constitutional party of 1882 resisted closure and now applied it. In 1887 the government declared that closure was a most unconstitutional and dangerous innovation. In 1888 it used closure in the most unconstitutional and dangerous manner, for the purpose of forcing upon its opponent an unprecedented, unparalleled and tremendous instrument of oppression.

What had been the result of this monstrous parturition? A reptile monster, Pigott! What had been the delivery, with all their skill and parliamentary instruments? A ghastly, bloody, rotten foetus, Pigott, Pigott, Pigott! [Parnellite cheers.] In making this motion the government was violating its own law.

Chamberlain said it was on their invitation that the Parnellites were made the subject of the inquiry. He denied that the commission was the result of his personal suggestion. Experience showed that it was the best and only equitable method to conduct an inquiry. Gladstone had admitted the assiduity, ability, learning and perfect absolute good faith of the judges. He asked to whom the house would appeal if it refused to adopt the judges' opinion on matters of fact. He warned the house with imperfect recollections of the terms of the report against assuming judicial functions by declining to accept the judges' findings. He urged the house to leave the matter in the hands of the nation.

Jennings withdrew his amendment. Caine, liberal unionist, moved a similar amendment condemning the Times, which was rejected.

Jennings explained that he had no desire to stab the government in the back. Churchill's speech was a complete surprise to him and changed his position, his own amendment not being intended to be hostile to the government.

Labouchere related from his own independent inquiries the circumstances of the meeting between constables of Pinkerton's men and a British constable at Kansas City, both employed by the Times as agents, proving that the government had abetted the negotiations which resulted in offering Sheridan £20 000 for a document that would incriminate Parnell.

Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, repudiated Churchill's statement that the government had acted unconstitutionally. While he was defending the impartiality of the judges the Parnellites created disorder by shouting "Pigott, Pigott." Proceeding, Goschen asserted that Le Caron was employed in the secret service under a liberal government.

Fowler, who was then secretary of the treasury, rose in excitement and angrily protested that nobody knew better than the chancellor of the exchequer that he could know nothing of such matters. A scene of the most intense excitement lasting several minutes followed.

Goschen taunted Fowler in reference to the Salisbury letter, and both rose to their feet and neither would give way.

Goschen and the Parnellites hurled such epithets as "Cowards!" etc.

Amid shouts of "Adjourn" and calls for Morley, Caine moved his amendment. Morley congratulated him for the courage he displayed, and said he would support the amendment. Smith [illegible] the closure, [illegible] and a division was taken on Caine's amendment. [illegible] the report was [illegible] agreed to [illegible].

DEAD MEN LYING IN HEAPS

A Hundred Lost in the Welsh Mine—The Flames Spreading.

LONDON, March 11.—Four of the miners entombed by the explosion yesterday in the Morfa colliery, [illegible] Glamorganshire, escaped without assistance. They crawled through the crevices between the roof of the mine and the debris. They passed over dead men lying in heaps. They believe none of those in the mine are alive. The fire is spreading. There is no hope of recovering the bodies. Seventy-five per cent of the victims were married and leave families. The latest estimate is that 100 were killed.

BISMARCK'S FEEBLE SON

The Iron Chancellor Unable to Hand the Government to Count Herbert.

BERLIN, March 11.—[Special Telegram.]—It is said Bismarck has given up hope of being succeeded by his son Herbert, finding him neither mentally nor physically qualified for the task. This is reason for deciding to retire gradually from his various posts, ceasing as he does so to act as [illegible] for the empire, such as [illegible] always prevailed in the Prussian government. In this way there will be created [illegible] commercial and colonial secretaries, and the chancellor will retain only the foreign office for bestowal on Herbert.

CABLE NOTES.

Hungarian Premier Tisza Resigns

PESTH, March 11.—A conference was held to-day between the emperor, Herr von Tisza and Count Von Szapary to consider the ministerial situation, which resulted in Tisza definitely resigning the office of prime minister and the appointment of Szaparay to succeed him. No other changes were made in the cabinet.

In the lower house of the Hungarian diet to-day Count [illegible] said that he [illegible] adopt [illegible] Tisza, prime minister, declared that he and other members of the cabinet had resigned. If an agreement was not reached upon which they differed within a few days he would make a statement to the house. The house passed the budget as a whole later. In spite of Tisza's [illegible] it is positively stated that Count Szapary has formed a cabinet in which he takes the interior portfolio.

Warlike Talk by a Pole.

BERLIN, March 11.—In the lower house of the Prussian diet to-day Herr Symula, Pole, warned the government against ill treating the Poles, who, he said, were wanted in the event of war with Russia. He declared that if the Poles were embittered against Germany the founding of a new kingdom of Poland would become possible, even should Germany be victorious against her foes on two fronts. It would be in Germany's interest to annex the Baltic provinces until she had first secured her rear. He believed it was time for those provinces to be annexed.

Joan of Arc's Beatification Postponed

ROME, March 11.—[Special Telegram.]—It is reported that the congregation of rites of the Roman Catholic church has postponed the suggested beatification of Joan of Arc on the ground that the French bishops have been overhasty in encouraging the new culture and have, without waiting for due authority, spread throughout the land pictures of the maid of Orleans, even going so far as to install a stained glass window glorifying her in the Orleans cathedral.

The Jury Was Lenient.

LONDON, March 11.—The trial of Elizabeth Vincent at Richmond on a charge of attempting to murder Lewis Henry Isaacs, member of the commons, was begun to-day. Isaacs testified that the paper which he refused to sign, and which refusal led to the shooting, was a document admitting that he seduced defendant by violence. He expressed a wish that the court would deal leniently with Miss Vincent, and the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Singing and Shrieking on the Scaffold

LONDON, March 11.—[Special Telegram.]—John and Samuel Boswell were hanged at Worcester for the murder of a gamekeeper of the Duc d'Aumale. Both nearly fainted while going to the scaffold. Samuel on the scaffold sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and John moaned and shrieked until the drop fell.

Lord Salisbury Not a Socialist

BERLIN, March 11.—The correspondence between Germany and Great Britain relative to the scope of the international labor conference is made public. Lord Salisbury has declined to favor any scheme looking to the legal restriction of the hours of labor.

Martial Law in Lisbon.

LISBON, March 11.—The government to-day issued a decree dissolving the municipal government of this city and appointing a commission to administer its affairs pending a reform which the government is considering.

[illegible] FACILITIES

Anacortes to Be on the Direct Line of a Transcontinental Railroad, on a Steamship Line, and Will Have the Telegraph

ANACORTES, March 10.—[Special Correspondence.]—It will not be many months hence until Anacortes will enjoy every facility now enjoyed by the most favored points on the Sound, including Seattle and Tacoma. We will soon have the telegraph; we will have telephone; the [illegible] steamships will stop here regularly; from that time forward we will have [illegible] railroad connection [illegible] within a comparatively short time, and one of the most elegant steamers on the coast will soon be plying regularly between this point, Seattle and Tacoma. The work of grading the streets is now about completed, and men are busily engaged in putting down the sidewalks. A company has already been organized for the purpose of building a street car line through the city, and the system adopted will be the best and include all the latest of the modern appliances. Anacortes is fast reaching for a position that will make the city one of the big points of the Northwest, and by the close of the present year the place will command the attention of the whole state of Washington.

There is a most active demand for property at the present writing. The city is extending out in all directions, but the principal demand seems to be for inside property, the call coming from those who contemplate building at once. The demand for sites that will in the near future furnish splendid residence locations is by no means light, however, and much of this outside property is now being bought by residents of the city who will build homes on their purchases as soon as the weather settles in the spring. During the present year here will be the greatest activity here in the building line, and mechanics of all kinds will find plenty of work to claim their attention.

Popular Harlem Builder Murdered.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Michael J McDonough, of the firm of McDonough & O'Sullivan, architects, contractors and builders in Harlem, died to-night from the effects of a blow from some hard weapon wielded by an unknown assassin. The motive for the crime was undoubtedly robbery, as McDonough's gold watch, $300 in money and a number of valuable papers are missing. McDonough was one of the most widely known and popular men in Harlem.

National Cattle Convention

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 11.—About 1500 delegates, representing all the cattle breeding and maturing states and territories, are in attendance at the cattlemen's convention, which convened this afternoon. The Northwest Texas Cattlemen's Range Association had a brief session this morning, but transacted no general business.

Ex-Governor Headley of New Mexico was made temporary chairman. Committees were appointed and adjournment taken until to-morrow.

Missouri Anti-Trust Law Unconstitutional.

ST LOUIS, March 11.—An interesting case, involving the constitutionality of the anti-trust law, was decided by Judge Dillon to-day. The state of Missouri asked to have the charter of the Simmons Hardware Company declared forfeited for not complying with the law by furnishing the necessary affidavits to the secretary of state. The Simmons company filed a demurrer questioning the law's constitutionality, and Judge Dillon sustained the demurrer, thus virtually declaring the law unconstitutional.

He Signed John Brown's Death Warrant.

FORT SCOTT, Kan, March 11.—Judge McComus, who signed a warrant for the execution of John Brown, died here to-day, aged 74 years. He was lieutenant governor of Virginia at the time Brown was hanged, and the signing of the warrant devolved upon him in the absence of the governor.

Trial of the Vesuvius's Guns

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—An unofficial trial of the dynamite guns of the cruiser Vesuvius was made to-day. Wooden bombs loaded with gunpowder were used, and the test is reported to have been satisfactory.

Prizefight in Buffalo

BUFFALO, March 11.—Kennard, the St Paul kid, and Jack Lyman, of New York, fought to-night at the Arlington Athletic club for a purse of $400. Lyman was knocked out in the twenty-second round.

LIGHTNING CURES.

Two Prominent People Publicly Proclaim Positive Relief and Cure by Electricity.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: Through the testimonials which appear in almost every paper of the state praising Drs. Darrin for their skill in curing and relieving the afflicted who call on them, I am happy to say I have at last found a road to health. I have suffered for years with kidney complaint, causing great pain in my back and extending down to the sciatic nerve, at times almost unbearable, also loss of vigor, energy and courage. I had about given up that there was any help for me when I met Dr Darrin performing his lightning cures. Now, after a few weeks of his electro-magnetic treatment, I feel almost like a boy and perfectly free from pain. If anyone suffering from any curable disease will give the doctor a trial, in my judgment you will be entirely cured. I cheerfully recommend them to the afflicted.

Respectfully, J W KEENEY,
Long Creek, Grant county, Or.

A Remarkable Cure

Editor Daily Oregonian: For many years I have been a great sufferer from various afflictions, which women are subject to, to-wit: Womb, kidney, stomach and head troubles, with such severity at times as to become nearly insane, and prayed that death would come and relieve me of my sufferings, as I saw all former physicians and remedies prescribed afforded me no relief, and despaired of ever getting well. In this condition I was induced to call on Drs Darrin and consult them in reference to my case. They gave me encouragement and I put myself under their treatment. Now, after a few months' treatment, I feel like one snatched from the jaws of death. Their treatment has brought sunshine and brightness to my mind, healthy action to my liver, strength and vitality to my stomach, and perfectly free from pain, and my other troubles are gone. I gladly give my name to the public as one rescued from suffering and death by Dr Darrin's peculiar treatment. Can be referred to at Prineville, Oregon.

MRS JOSEPH SMITH.

Drs Darrin can be consulted daily at the Washington building, corner Fourth and Washington streets, Portland, and Hotel Gandolfo, Tacoma. Hours 10 to 5; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays 10 to 12. All chronic diseases, irregularities of women, blood taints, loss of vital power and early indiscretions permanently cured, though no references are ever made in the press concerning such cases, owing to the delicacy of the patients. Examinations free to all, and circulars will be sent to any address. Charges for treatment according to patient's ability to pay. The poor treated free of charge from 10 to 11 daily. All private diseases confidentially treated and cures guaranteed. Patients at a distance can be cured by home treatment. Medicines and letters sent without the doctors' name appearing.

CALL FOR A REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican Convention for the State of Oregon is called to meet at the city of Portland on Wednesday the 16th day of April, 1890, at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the office of Congressman, Governor, Supreme Judge, Secretary of State, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, State Printer, and District officers, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention. The convention will consist of 318 delegates, apportioned among the several counties as follows:

Baker 6, Benton 8, Clackamas 9, Clatsop 7, Columbia 4, Coos 6, Crook 3, Curry 3, Douglas 8, Gilliam 6, Grant 5, Harney 4, Jackson 7, Josephine 4, Klamath 3, Lake 3, Lane 10, Linn 10, Malheur 3, Marion 12, Morrow 4, Multnomah 35, Polk 6, Tillamook 3, Umatilla 10, Union 8, Wallowa 4, Wasco 8, Sherman 3, Washington 8, Yamhill 8.

The same being one delegate at large from each county and one delegate for every 175 votes, and one for every fraction over one half thereof cast for congressmen at the June election of 1888. The committee recommend that the Primaries be held on April 5th, and the county conventions on April 9th, unless otherwise ordered by the proper county committee. All voters who favor the Republican policy of American markets for the products of American labor, liberal support of our common schools and the protection of every voter in the nation in his right to cast a free ballot and have it fairly counted, are cordially invited to unite in the selection of delegates to the Republican State Convention.

The snow at Hood River is eighteen inches deep. The coldest weather experienced there was 16 degrees below zero and a week ago it was 12 degrees below

The Times Mountaineer disclaims favoring any particular gubernatorial candidate but says "it cannot see any reason why the nomination of Mr Minto would not be acceptable to the republican party"

Lindsay Applegate the venerable pioneer who, with thirteen others laid out the old emigrant road from Willamette to Fort Hall is about 80 years of age now but is well and happy at his son's residence in Dairy

Four cougars driven from the forest by clear eyed starvation have been visiting the ranch of J L Hanks, near Lanesville to get calves colts and things They like any kind of a colt except a Colt rifle which somehow don't agree with their digestive apparatus

J D Ambrose not long since received a letter from his brother J W who is wintering his sheep near Ritter Grant county saying that he had at that time but 1700 sheep left out of 3500 Fresh snow had fallen to a depth of five inches in the five hours preceding, and was still falling

If the common council will but consider the matter and look at it in the proper light says the Baker City Democrat they cannot fail to see that by the adoption of the revenue ordinances enterprises will be kept out and that it will work a hardship on Baker City in more ways than one

A hermit named Hudson living on Union creek whose only companion is a cat has not been heard from for eight weeks It is feared that he is dead as he had been in the habit of going to Boothby's store for provisions and for a long time has not appeared Hudson is 60 years old and is not a robust man. The snow in that vicinity is about eight feet deep

WASHINGTONIANA.

The Ellensburgh Register, noting an inquiry for property for manufacturing purposes reads a brief but pointed and timely lesson to those who jump up the price of lands just as soon as somebody wants to buy and improve them This policy has killed many a promising town

A rumor comes from a reliable source that a company composed of some well known capitalists will establish blast furnaces at Sehome. These will be used for smelting iron silver gold and other minerals An institution of this kind would place the successful future of Bellingham bay beyond peradventure It would cost over $1 000,000 to establish these works

Colonel Will Visscher has departed from Tacoma to enter upon his new field of journalistic labor at Fairhaven Colonel Visscher is an experienced journalist and an honorable man He will doubtless devote capable energies to the development of the best interests of Fairhaven and will be sure to maintain in his new sphere the reputation previously achieved as an entertaining and versatile writer

Mr Jay P Graves of Spokane Falls suffered an irreparable loss in a recent fire in that city He had taken fifteen volumes of the Century magazine to a book bindery to have them bound, and the work was just about finished when the whole establishment was destroyed by fire He had carefully saved his numbers since 1878 and now he finds it impossible even at the house of publication to secure numbers further back than 1881 Only book collectors can appreciate his feelings over this loss

Deputy jailers say that both men and women have called at the jail in Seattle at all hours, crazy to see the prisoner upon some pretext or another and offer the most ingenious excuses to gain their end The men come mainly out of a morbid curiosity to gaze upon what they deem a criminal monstrosity the women to offer a maudlin sympathy which is as disgusting as it is senseless The crank genii have become less importunate in their demands during the past few days and give the jailers a rest which they greatly appreciate

The people living along the line of the road between Seattle and Tacoma complain that the coal rates are too high and that they should be reduced both in justice and in response to good business policy Speaking of this matter the Snohomish Sun says "This is an imperative necessity and ought to engage the attention of the railroad officials at their earliest opportunity Another feature that deserves attention is the layover system We hear no end of complaints on that score and it seems only consistent with a spirit of fairness that this change should be added to other improvements under consideration

What is sweeter than roses
 That bloom in the beauty of June?
Or the stately and fragrant lilies
 Whose bells ring a summer tune?
And sweeter the roses blowing
 On the cheeks of those we love
And the lily of health that's glowing
 In the cheeks red rose above.

But how soon the lily and the rose wither in the faces of our American women. Why is it? Simply because so many of them are victims of weaknesses irregularities and functional derangements incidental to the sex. If they would use Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription all the beauty and health destroying ailments might be warded off and we would hear less about women "growing old before their time"

To regulate the stomach liver and bowels Dr Pierce's Pellets excel One a dose

The town is growing south.

CITY HAPPENINGS IN BRIEF

The New City Hall Committee Busily at Work.

G A R Encampment—New Nail Factory—Patrol Wagon Shed—Suicidal Theory Untenable—Union Party Meeting

[illegible] BAD, BAD BOY—It is not to be supposed that Portland small boy is worse than the [illegible] species of animal in other towns, but there are some here who are about as bad as can be, and it is doubtful if any worse than the worst of them can be found anywhere. One of the worst, [illegible] from the head waters of Bitter [illegible] distinguished himself yesterday by setting [illegible] on a well known pioneer Front street merchant. This gentleman has been laid up with rheumatism for some time, and is still rather tender about the shins. As he was making his way down to his place of business he saw a [illegible] apparently about fourteen years [illegible] his dog on a Chinaman just out of [illegible]. The gentleman's wrath was [illegible] by this piece of brutality and he told the boy it was a mean cowardly and contemptible act to set his dog on an inoffensive Chinaman and remarked "You would not dare to do it to a white man." "I wouldn't, hey!" said the unlicked cub, and immediately called his dog and "sicked" him at the gentleman. The latter forgot all about his rheumatism and as the dog came at him gave it a kick under the jaw which caused it to turn a somersault backward and then run off rapidly. He then turned to give the boy what he was aching for, a sound thrashing but the young [illegible] had placed himself at a safe distance [illegible] laughing at his baffled pursuer. The [illegible] has a photograph of the boy in his memory and when he meets him will well just [illegible] he meets him, and then we shall see what we shall see.

THE CITY HALL COMMITTEE.—The committee appointed by Mayor DeLashmutt to superintend the building of the City hall have requested the various city officials to submit estimates of the amount of space which each of their departments will require in the new building. There are quite a number of offices to be provided for and there are some offices not yet created for which provision must be made. In order to prepare plans for the building it is necessary to know about how much space will be required for the mayor auditor superintendent of [illegible] city surveyor, city treasurer, city attorney [illegible] police department, fire department water [illegible] etc. Then there must be a council [illegible] committee rooms, vault for records and [illegible] it will have to be decided whether or not there [illegible] a hall for public meetings which was the [illegible]. It is to be hoped that the city [illegible] will not be connected with the new hall. The [illegible] will be needed for fuel rooms, store [illegible] quarters, etc. but a jail is a dis[illegible] nuisance under a public building

ABOUT ADVERTISING ON ENVELOPES —In reference to the idea of advertising the exposition [illegible] by printing a cut of the building and the [illegible] of opening on the backs of business men's envelopes, as suggested a few days since a gentleman writes to ask if such advertising would [illegible] conflict with the postal laws. He says that when he was in the hotel business he had a cut of his hotel and a list of his rates printed on the back of his envelopes, and had the pleasure of [illegible] his envelopes and stamps both. It may be that a pure advertisement as a list of prices would not be allowed on envelopes but thousands of envelopes are constantly passing through the mails with cuts of hotels, business houses, cards of persons and firms printed upon them. When printed on the front of the envelope it is done in light tints generally so as not to obscure the address. It is believed however that on letters a man can write or print whatever he pleases if it is not obscene so long as the letter does not exceed the regulation weight.

ALL FOR THE MUSEUM.—The Oregon Alpine Club is soon to receive several gifts that will make quite an addition to the collection in the museum. The cabinet of 500 insects which was exhibited at the Mechanics' Pavilion fair two years ago, will be presented to the club as soon as it is put in shape and fixed up. Dr Cardwell has signified his intention to give the club a valuable collection of mammals and birds, which were mounted in this state in 1853, as soon as the club procures suitable rooms for placing them on exhibition. The collection comprises one hundred specimens, all of which are well preserved. W G Steel has vowed that he will get the two small cannon which will soon be sold at auction at the court house. They are of historical interest and should properly be in the custody of the club. The Alpine Club museum will in a few years attract considerable attention from tourists.

THE SUICIDE THEORY NOT TENABLE.—The theory of young Becker having taken poison with suicidal intent is scouted by those who knew the disposition of the young man. He had no reason for taking his own life, and probably would have confessed it before his death if he had done so. His last conversation with his mother must dispel all doubts in the minds of those who could have thought so and convince them that the suicide theory is no solution of the mysterious death. Becker was poisoned, and either some one gave him the arsenic with criminal intent or else by mistake. If it can be shown that the supposed quinine capsules were not loaded with arsenic (as is at stake on the part of the druggist) it devolves upon the detective force of the city to find out who administered the fatal dose.

THE "ONION" MARKET.—The farmer who held his onions through the winter in expectation of getting a high price, has struck it this time. A farmer who brought in a small wagon load of twenty sacks of these loud smelling but wholesome vegetable yesterday carried home $78 in cash for them, and another, who has a patch of beaverdam land near Beaverton brought in a car load, for which he received $600, and he has two [illegible] more at home. The onions are bought for shipment to San Francisco and the price paid is 4½ cents per pound. Of course these are all [illegible] onions which have not sprouted yet. Those called "Sc." from which sprouts have been cut sell for less. The demand for onions in California will soon be at an end, as new onions will be in the market in two or three weeks.

TAXPAYERS SHOULD ACT PROMPTLY.—"How are taxes coming in?" queried a reporter of Sheriff Kelly yesterday afternoon. "Not very fast," replied he. "The people should bear in mind that the time for closing the rolls is drawing near. After the 1st of April taxes become delinquent and property owners will be put to additional expense, if they wait until after that date. We desire to be as accommodating as possible but if taxpayers do not come in faster than they have during the past few weeks our clerks will not be able to make out all the receipts between now and April. It is to the best interests of all to act promptly in this matter. The county has grown so much in population that the tax roll now makes quite a formidable appearance."

"CHUCK HOLES.—It is a very tiresome thing to have to call attention to chuck holes in the streets which are an old story but there is an unusually deep chuck hole on Front street just north of Pine which is positively dangerous. A day or two since when it was filled with water a drayman drove into it and was not only thrown from his dray but a part of his load was thrown off as well. Being a pious man he supplicated blessings on the heads of everybody connected with the street department for a space and then proceeded to reload his cargo. If the street department will fill up this hole it will be a good job done.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.—The delegates to the Department Encampment G. A. R. and Women's Relief Corps, and their friends will leave from the Jefferson street depot East Portland at 8 o'clock this morning and will arrive at Eugene City this afternoon in time to take part in the proceedings. A Pullman sleeper and an extra day coach have been put on for the accommodation of the old soldiers. The ninth encampment promises to be well attended, and the party going from here today is composed of members who know how to have an enjoyable time on a two or three days outing.

TWO CHIMNEY FIRES.—Two still alarms yesterday afternoon called out a portion of the fire department to witness two small chimney fires. The first alarm, turned in at 2 30 P M called the department to the residence of Dr Osmon Royal on Third street between Washington and Stark. It was but the simple ordinary chimney fire and the firemen had nothing to do but to look on. The second call came in half an hour later and this time the eruption occurred in the residence of Mr Wo H. on Ninth and Washington streets. There was no loss or damage at either fire.

A NAIL FACTORY.—Speaking of establishing a nail factory here a man who handles a great many nails says there are four firms in this city who sell 25 000 kegs of nails among them during the year. Enough more are sold in other towns to bring the annual consumption of nails up to 75,000 kegs per year. Nail works turning out 500 kegs per day would be needed to supply the trade of the Northwest. Portland ought to have them and will sooner or later.

THE FROZEN FLOCKS.—H M Clay a prominent stockman of Olex, Gilliam county was in the city yesterday inquiring as to the market for sheep pelts. He can ship 20 000 or 30 000 skins this coming spring harvest naturally following the severe winter. One of Mr Clay's neighbors has lost 900 sheep out of a flock of 1700 another lost 2,500 out of 3000. Cattle perished in almost the same proportion, and coyotes will fatten on the pastures of Gilliam.

AUCTION SALE TO-DAY.—The elegant stock of fancy goods, toilet sets etc. brushes hampers, fancy baskets tricycles, children's wagons carriages, sweepers, cutlery etc. (at 166 Third street) is being disposed of by the creditors. The sale will be resumed this afternoon at 2 o'clock and evening at 7 o'clock. Ladies are attending this sale and taking advantage of the opportunity to purchase fine goods at their own price. Gilman & Co, auctioneers.

MORE SUBURBAN LINES.—Mr E. L Fuller superintendent of the Waverly Woodstock motor line reports that work will be begun at once, and that he expects to have the Woodstock line and also the branch to Waverly both completed and in operation within the required time, three months from March 1.

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION. — Recognizing the growing needs for protection against fire the city council of Albina, after a careful examination of the various brands in the market, have placed an order with Z. T. Wright for a supply of the celebrated White Atlas fire hose.

WORK ON THE JETTY.—Operations on the jetty at the mouth of the Columbia are to be resumed. The barges will go up to the quarry tomorrow for rock and will go down Friday and the work of receiving rock at the jetty will be begun Monday. The work of driving piles and extending the jetty tramway will be resumed about April 1. Contracts for supplying brush and piles for the work were opened by Major Handbury U. S. engineer, Monday. The lowest bid was submitted by C P Church.

ABLE TO BE OUT.—Mr William Honeyman of Honeyman & De Hart was able to visit the store yesterday for the first time in three months. He is on the sure road to health and his old friends will see him again as good as new when the horn of the hunter is heard on the hill. He looks very well considering the severe spell of sickness he has passed through.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association was held on Monday evening last in the parlor of Ladd & Tilton's bank. After the transaction of the usual business the following officers were elected: President J Thorburn Ross vice president W S Ladd treasurer L A Macrum recording secretary Osmon Royal M D.

UNION PARTY MEETING.—The Union Party club which was organized some two weeks ago by a combination of the various reform elements will hold a meeting tonight at Nonpareil hall, corner of First and Madison streets for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization and for discussion of the various [illegible] ones represented in the movement.

RAILS FOR THE W E & L.—The rails for the Woodstock electric motor line are being distributed along the grade and it is expected that the road will be running in about two months. It is to come through East Portland on Fifth street and across the Morrison street bridge. The present track on Fifth street will be replaced with heavier iron.

SHED FOR THE PATROL WAGON.—The shed for the patrol wagon under construction in the rear of the city jail is nearing completion. It is not a very pretentious looking building but it will answer every purpose. It will be plenty large enough for the wagon and horses and that's all that is wanted of it.

Messrs. Fontius & Buesdew have awarded to Mr Louis Blank the contract for the signs at their new store First and Yamhill.

THE PAVILION MUDDLE

Both Morgan and Faulkner Claim Rights of Possession—Other Sporting Matters

The dispute over the right of possession of the Mechanics pavilion is attracting considerable attention in sporting circles, and many are beginning to wonder under whose management the next glove contests will take place. The Dempsey-McCarthy contest comes off tomorrow night and Glover and Conley have signed articles for a match to take place a week from Saturday night. More matches are on the tapis for the near future. Who will manage these contests? W B Faulkner says he will and W J Morgan who formerly managed the pavilion in conjunction with James Gerah says he will. The wrangle for possession of the building has been under way for several days and new aspects of the dispute come to view each day. One day one faction appears to be on top, and the next the other and the sporting public who are desirous of witnessing some good glove contests are getting heartily tired. All want to see it settled either one way or the other.

The disputants have cases in the police court and in the two justice courts and each has a small army of legal talent to fight for his rights. No comment is necessary and all that can be said is that the end is not yet.

Mr Francis one of Vancouver's enthusiastic sports, was in the city yesterday making arrangements for a match between Pete Shay and Young Balf the bantam weights who recently participated in a little fistic soiree down the river. Francis was given to understand that money had been put up on Balf and he came to cover the amount for Shay whom he is backing. If the match is made the contest will in all probability take place in this city.

Bud Smith and Charles Brown both of Vancouver will meet in a wrestling contest Wednesday evening, March 19. The match is the result of some personal differences and they have decided to settle matters in the padded prize ring. Both men are said to be good wrestlers and there is considerable speculation as to the outcome.

Con Riordan and several other San Francisco devotees of the prize ring came in on the steamer State of California last evening.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

President Macleay of the Board of Trade has appointed the following committees in accordance with resolutions passed at the meeting of the board Monday evening:

—To investigate the smelting works [illegible]: John McCraken George B Markle, H [illegible] Lake, Lewis Russell, Walter F Burrell.

To ascertain relative transportation facilities between Portland and Grays Harbor—[illegible] Corbett G A Mooney E D Baker, Herbert Bradley.

To investigate if proper for board to concur in Astoria Chamber of Commerce resolutions as requested—James Laidlaw W S Sibson D D Oliphant.

MARCH OF PROGRESS

Railroad Assured—The Electric Street Car Line to Be Built at Once.

PORT TOWNSEND March 10.—[Special Correspondence.]—An electric street railway will be built from the center of the city through the principal thoroughfares to the eighty suburban additions back of the city within ninety days. Work was commenced several days ago on the new line and will be rapidly pushed until completed. The company expects to spend $50 000 in the venture and the system will be the finest in the Northwest. The owners of stores on the streets through which the road will pass have raised the rent of the buildings and property all along the line has increased in value accordingly. This enterprise and the costly improvements contemplated and under construction by the city will increase the population of Port Townsend several thousand before the snow flies next winter. The advancement and development has been phenomenal notwithstanding the fact that the methods usually adopted by real estate agents of booming a town and raising the values of property out of sight have all also been discountenanced by the large property holders.

The commanding situation of the city, the excellent harbor facilities, the [illegible] of several large sawmills within a distance of a few miles of [illegible] the location of the custom house for the district of Puget Sound, the big iron smelter, capable of manufacturing several hundred thousand dollars of work [illegible] per annum, and the shipping point for thousands of cargoes each year of wheat lumber coal produce and general merchandise to the ports of British Columbia, Alaska, coastwise and every section of the globe gives the assurance that nothing can prevent the city from ranking very high as a great commercial center. There is enough traffic and business transacted here to warrant the support of a population of [illegible] people. The assurance that the railroad will be built connecting Port Townsend with a transcontinental railway system has been received and this summer will witness a large immigration of people from the eastern states. The city will contain a population of 30,000 people within twelve months from date.

The city of Port Townsend is located on a magnificent bay bearing the same name. The residence portion is built on a high plateau overlooking the business part of town across a lovely sheet of water to a garden of land and fir in the distance rising far into the canopy of clouds clearly outlined against the horizon are the blue [illegible] peaks of Mounts Rainier and Baker whose [illegible] are covered with eternal snow and the crimson flush of a sunset makes their hoary [illegible] diamonds. Surrounded with all [illegible] natural [illegible] to the admiration of thousands of tourists who pass through this city every year en route to Alaska. Back of Port Townsend outlined against the starry heavens [illegible] the Olympic mountains [illegible] growth of fir and timber makes the picture most entrancing. [illegible] the residence portion of the city back of the original town site is located on a gentle rolling slope commanding an elegant view of the straits of Juan de Fuca towards the sea and at night the electric lights in Victoria, on Vancouver Island, are visible. A better location for a town site could not have been selected on the Pacific coast. The grandest scenery on Puget Sound combined with unequaled facilities for shipping and transaction of general business makes Port Townsend the most desirable location in the Northwest. New channels and avenues of trade are being constantly opened [illegible] the rapidly growing surrounding country [illegible] railway connection and improvements in the city which will exceed $1,000,000 this year is the strongest evidence that Port Townsend is on the eve of a wonderful era of progress which will develop into a city of 30,000 inhabitants during the present year.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Deputy Postmaster J H Anderson has been sick with a severe cold and unable to attend to his duties for several days.

The Northern Pacific had to put on three extra coaches Sunday morning for the Sound to accommodate the large number of passengers brought in here by the Union Pacific. Travel is becoming lively again.

One of the police officers raffled off a fine horse several days ago and was [illegible] able to get rid of it. The lucky holder of ticket No. 40 has failed to show up and the officer now has both the horse and his [illegible].

The Portland Trust Company of Oregon as agents for an English syndicate and a prominent [illegible] has just purchased from D P Thompson free and [illegible] between Second Third and G streets for $50,000 cash.

The R. H. [illegible] man arrested on a petty charge in Justice Wood's court Monday afternoon is not Robert Holme the well known truckman who has been a resident of this city for many years. It was another person by the same name but as the case was dismissed it makes very little difference.

Work is progressing favorably on the Madison street bridge. The piling for the foundation of the pivot pier will be completed today. Mr George Brown who has charge of the bridge is rapidly recovering from his recent illness. He was [illegible] near [illegible] the bridge. He will be down in a day or two more.

Mr. I W Lee general passenger agent of the Union Pacific has just returned [illegible] and reports that [illegible] everything in the [illegible] is moving in good shape. Snow has almost entirely disappeared along the line and no further trouble is apprehended this season from snow or water.

Spring and Summer

Never before has millinery attained the degree of perfection which it now holds, we are just entering a new era, and one consisting of many wonderful and startling changes. THE MODISTE must indeed be an artist of great and varied experience. To begin, no hat is to be trimmed, except patterns, until it has been fitted and moulded on the head of the lady for whom it is intended, then a careful study of the face is absolutely necessary before the design can be carried into proper effect.

WE POSSESS THE MODISTE.

The Spring loves of Bonnets and Hats have seldom been equalled and never excelled, but few new colors are promised. The Monsereau is a pleasing shade. The Admiral, Gendarme, Sapphire, Paon, Chasseur, are various shades of Blue, ranging from a Marine to a Navy, Vermouth is a Greenish Grey. The new color just produced shown in all imported goods is the Glueton a very pale yellow, while a light beige with a tinge of lavender is known as Champignon, Paille and Bonton d'Or two dark shades of yellow, Persan, between a pink and mauve, and Parnell is the name given to a bright vivid green.

As this is to be a season of Elegant Laces and Draperies, we are given the soft Silks, Crepe de Chine, Surahs, and Silk Gauzes in all new designs. In trimmings, we are led to believe that Velvet Ribbons, Satin back, will more than double the popularity that it enjoyed the past season. Laces of all styles and varieties will be used both for Hat and Dress Trimming, from the narrow to the beautiful silk gauze hand-embroidered laces—CHANTILLY, VANDYKE, EIFFEL TOWER POINTS, in Cream and Black are the favorites. FLOWERS will decorate most all hats, and never was nature more closely simulated. The fine flowers predominate. Many bonnets will be composed entirely of small buds. Forget-Me-Not or Lilies of the Valley, finished with a large bow of wide fancy ribbon. Buttercups, Lilies, Chrysanthemums, Lilacs and small French Piquetts will be used extensively.

Black will be very popular, but as a trimming mostly, it obtains largely on hats and bonnets, whose foundations are formed of the lighter and brighter shades, the effect is greatly heightened by the contrast, and it subdues that which might otherwise seem displeasing to the eye. The endorsement that yellow has received will make it extremely popular, and the entire scale, from the deepest Orange to the light Chamois and Blanc-mat, will find favor with those seeking the color that is acknowledged by all artists to be the most flattering to the complexion. This color combined with black, green, brown, grey or mountain purple, is one of nature's own combination. In regard to trimming and shapes, we have that which is noted for its distinctness from the season just passed. In shapes, large hats will be used for out-door wear, where the eyes are to be protected from the sun's rays, but they can never fill the place of the TOQUE for dress occasions. The TOQUE alone is admirably adapted for this, and fashionable women readily recognize the fact. Open crowns, with silk wire and narrow ribbon lace over, is a feature of these artistic creations. The popular Braids for the coming season are the Tuscan, Italian, Milan, Russian Hair, Leghorn and English Fancy Braids.

DUE NOTICE WILL BE GIVEN OF OUR GRAND OPENING.

OUR BAD TAX SYSTEM

It may be hoped that the report of the joint committee of the Board of Trade and real estate exchange of Portland on the usury and mortgage tax laws of Oregon may receive general attention throughout the state. THE OREGONIAN feels justified in reprinting portions of this report, and in asking that special notice may be taken of its statements. It has been generally supposed by the people of the rural counties that the present tax system gave them some advantage over Portland—that is to say, that taxation of mortgages and collection of indebtedness, with low valuation of property was favorable to the country rather than to the city. But note what the committee of the Board of Trade and of the real estate exchange of Portland say:

The mode and manner of assessing property throughout the state, and especially in this city and county, is [illegible] It is unequal and [illegible] total amount of taxable property [illegible] county and state [illegible] property in the [illegible] to the [illegible]

The committee [illegible] that under this system the large property holder, when he is at all unscrupulous, succeeds in evading his just proportion of taxation by shifting it on to the shoulders of his more honest but generally less wealthy neighbor, and they add:

A number of quite wealthy owners of real and personal property of this city have in this manner evaded paying their proportion of taxes for twenty years or more. Indeed it is within the knowledge of your committee that the assessments on some real estate within this city have not been changed for ten years or more, and some of us know that there are taxpayers in this city whose yearly income from real estate located in this city is nearly as much as his property, less deductions, is valued at. * * * It is not to the credit of a large commercial city, or of a state as old as ours, to show up a total tax roll of less than one-tenth of the actual wealth of its citizens, or a tax roll much smaller than that of a neighboring state not a year old. Neither is it just to the laboring classes, of small storekeepers and mechanics, who are assessed one-half of the actual value of their little holdings, while some of the richest escape by paying about one-tenth of what they ought to pay.

For under the present system there can be no abatement of these evils. Chief among the methods of fraud is that deducting indebtedness — method which the people of the rural districts have regarded as a high privilege and beneficial to themselves. But in fact it oppresses them, since it enables persons of wealth in the city—persons who can command credit—to escape taxation on nearly their whole possessions. Of the usury and mortgage tax laws the committee say:—

The usury law instead of benefiting the borrower has a contrary effect, the law being a kind of prohibitory tariff against foreign capital, creating thereby less of a supply with a large demand. A repeal of this law would make the supply of money greater and rates of interest lower. This is now such a well established fact, that it seems passing strange that such a law yet remains on the statute books.

The mortgage tax law was originally enacted for the purpose of increasing the revenues of the state and for the purpose of making the lender of money assume some of the burdens of taxation, but the law failed to accomplish either one of its objects. It did not increase but decreased the revenues of the state, and the borrower having to pay in the end the tax on the mortgage has to assume the burden intended for the lender. Both laws having failed to accomplish that for which they were intended, ought therefore to be repealed.

Of the entire correctness of these statements there can be no manner of doubt. The statements are exactly in the line of those presented by the convention of assessors of the state. Have not the people seen and felt enough of the evils of the present system?

A MOST CONSIDERATE CHARITY

The late Colonel Donahue, of San Francisco, bequeathed the bulk of his great fortune to the charitable institutions of the Roman Catholic church in California. With confidence in the integrity of those in authority in that church that is characteristic of its devoted and zealous members these individuals are made the almoners of Colonel Donahue's bounty. The archbishop of San Francisco alone is charged with the distribution of $100,000.

One of the most considerate of Colonel Donahue's charities is a residuary fund to be applied to the purchase of a suitable site in San Francisco and the erection thereon of a home for aged men and women, together with sufficient endowment to render it an effective charity for a class at once pitiable and destitute—the homeless aged.

An institution of this kind is a growing necessity in this state. Men and women, who have given the energies of their active years to the benefit of others and find themselves homeless in their old age as the reward of misdirected unselfishness are to be found in every community. There are a number of such persons in this city, respectable, honest men and women who worked as long as they were able, allowing the proceeds of their labor to be absorbed by younger and more selfish persons hoping for a return in care and kindness when the harvest term of life with them was over. Death or ingratitude has disappointed this hope and they find themselves too independent in spirit still to ask for charity or even, unless cruelly pressed, to accept its dole, and too weak to make their living as in other years. An old couple, man and wife, when thus left destitute, manage usually by supplementing each other's effort and bearing one another's burdens to live without coming to actual want, even though they verge upon their four score years, but for the man or woman left alone this is impossible. Help must come and there is no other way than for the public or for local charities to minister to the actual needs of these pitifully lonely and aged ones. For such as these it is true the commonwealth already provides, but the term "poor house" is one from which self respecting age shrinks painfully.

The benevolence therefore that founds and endows homes for old people is one of the noblest of charities, embodying, as it does, with the more material elements of shelter and food the sentiment that seeks to spare the feelings of the deserving aged who are left through no fault more heinous than that of undue kindness toward selfish and ungrateful children, in penury. One of the most notable of these homes is that provided for old ladies (the latter term being interpreted to mean women of refinement and gentle breeding who have been by reverses of fortune left homeless in their old age) by the late W. W. Corcoran of Washington. Dedicated to the memory of his young wife, who died within a few years after their marriage, it is at once a monument to an unselfish affection and a peaceful retreat from the storms of time and the buffetings of adverse fortune for a highly sensitive and worthy class of women. While it is only in the older and more cultivated communities that an institution of an exclusive character like this is needed, no state should be without a retreat for the aged on a more comprehensive plan. Portland should have one and we may hope that some one of the philanthropists who have acquired wealth in this city, and passing on must in time will have no further use for it, may follow the example of Colonel Donahue in providing for such an institution. Or better still let us hope that some Portland philanthropist will follow the example of W. W. Corcoran, in kind though not necessarily in degree, found such an institution and live many years to witness the blessings that it bestows.

TARIFF SELFISHNESS

The threat of the California and Kansas representatives to vote against the McKinley tariff bill if sugar is put upon the free list is an extreme case of tariff selfishness gone to seed. The Kansas and California men want sugar protected because they think they can make sugar in those states out of sorghum and beet root. This is a fatuous dream which the people of various parts of the country have cherished at different times. There is no such thing as the profitable manufacture of sugar out of sorghum. The saccharine matter is there and the plant yields a poor and unsavory article of molasses, but it won't crystallize into sugar. Experts have been working at the problem for twenty years without success. No end of money has been wasted in experimenting. Private enterprise undertook it first and after this had failed, the government took it up. The agricultural department has two or three experimental stations in Kansas trying to make sugar out of sorghum [illegible] enough to [illegible] on a large scale. It is well enough to spend a little government money on these futile experiments, but it is an outrage to tax the people of the country $50,000,000 a year to protect an industry that does not yet exist.

The beet root sugar industry in this country is still more nebulous and non existent. These Californians think that, because they can grow big saccharine beets in that soil, they can build up a sugar industry there. Sugar can be made out of beet root. France and Germany have demonstrated that, but the labor involved in the complicated processes is so great that the thing can only be done economically where labor is cheap. That is why nothing has come of the California experiment. If Chinese immigration had not been stopped something might have been done with Mongolian labor, but sugar can never be made out of beet root to compete with the cane product with labor paid at the average American rate. The only way to build up a beet root sugar industry in this country is to clap on a duty high enough to shut out first the cane sugar of the West Indies and then the beet root sugar of France and Germany. The present duty is too low. We should have to pay fifty or sixty millions more in addition to the fifty or sixty millions paid for the benefit of a scurvy ten million cane sugar industry in Louisiana to enable these Californians to carry on their alleged industry. This is protection run mad.

The resistance of the Kansas and California members to the almost unanimous desire of the republicans in congress to place sugar on the free list is fatuous in a double degree. It threatens party interest as well as the public good. If they persist they will not only perpetuate an unjust and unnecessary tax but they will compass the defeat of the republican party at the next election with the defeat of all tariff legislation at this session of congress. It should never be forgotten that the republicans are pledged by two national conventions to reduction of the revenue. If this pledge is not kept it will go into the next campaign heavily handicapped. It cannot be kept if every petty little interest whose pretended need of protection now burdens the country with needless taxation can inspire a dozen protected congressmen to refuse to vote for a particular tariff bill. Some of the worst features of the Mills bill were adopted under stress of threats of secession by democratic members who thought their local interests endangered. If the republicans play the same selfish game in this congress the same result will follow. There will be no tariff legislation and the republican party will pay for its violated pledges at the next election.

THE CASE OF LIEUTENANT STEELE

The case of Lieutenant Steele, who acted as judge advocate in the trial of a soldier for an offense which he (Steele) provoked, illustrates an evil that is growing stronger and stronger every day in the army, viz: the faulty constitution of general courts martial. The ordering of such an extraordinary court as that which tried Trooper Wild is simply the result of the long standing habit of constituting general courts martial with a less number of officers than is required by the plain meaning of the law. The power of life and death is not infrequently placed in the hands of five or seven inexperienced young officers. These are by order made to constitute a general court martial—the supreme court of our military service—and this is done under an unjustifiable fiction of the law. [illegible] in law are ever justifiable. The law says:

General courts martial may consist of any number of officers from five to thirteen inclusive, but they shall not consist of less than thirteen when that number can be convened without manifest injury to the service.

Hence when courts of less than thirteen are ordered it is customary for the convening authority to state that a greater number cannot be ordered without manifest injury to the service, and this certificate is signed day after day when it is perfectly manifest to every military man in the vicinity that in the vast majority of cases a full legal court could be ordered without any injury to the service whatever. The effect of this plain disregard of the law is derogatory to the dignity of the highest tribunal in the army, it degrades the court in the estimation of its own members and the whole military service, but worst of all it deprives the accused of his right to be tried by a properly constituted jury of thirteen, on which conviction is made by a majority. In the case of Trooper Wild the accused was tried on a charge that under some circumstances subjects the offender to a death penalty. Who were his jurors? Seven officers serving at the same post, four of whom belonged to his own regiment, and every one of whom probably knew every detail of the commission of the offense with which he was charged, but more than this the very officer against whom the offense was committed was the prosecuting attorney appointed to convict him if possible before this jury of seven officers, all from the same post, when there were probably not less than fifty officers within a short distance, out of whom a competent jury of thirteen could have been ordered without the slightest injury to the service. The president of the United States has nothing whatever to do with the proceedings of the court, and the sentence goes into effect long before he has a chance to see the proceedings or decide the case of the convicted man. This man's sentence was promulgated December 31, 1889, and he had a dishonorable discharge, forfeited all his pay and undergone nearly two months' confinement before the president knew anything of the case. Hence all the greater necessity that our general court martial should be properly and legally constituted. An able critic who has seen many years of responsible military service writes us of this case as follows: "Does it not look as if it were about time that some high authority should put down a very heavy foot and announce that courts must hereafter be constituted as the law plainly contends they shall be?"

Another mine horror is reported from Wales. The principal features of the disaster are the same, the recital of which has from time to time aroused the shuddering sympathy of the world. Several hundred miners were entombed, a number near the shaft were rescued, many more—100 in this instance—perished miserably. A few blackened, mutilated bodies drawn to the surface, the shrieking of women and the wailing of children about the pit's mouth, succeeded by the sobs of despair as all hope of further rescue is abandoned, these are the elements of the story that is told under the head of "A Colliery Disaster." The one grim element of consolation usual in such cases—that which declares that the death of the man was painless—is denied to the friends of the victims in this instance as frantic appeals for help were heard from the living tomb. Whether this disaster was one of those that are classed as preventable is not stated. It is by no means just to catalogue it thus in advance of evidence in regard to its cause, though the public has fallen into the habit of doing this through an exaggerated idea of the inhumanity and greed of capital in its dealings with labor. Investigation has not infrequently proven that an explosion in a mine was the direct result of the carelessness of the miners themselves or of someone of their number who from long familiarity with danger became indifferent to the dire possibilities that surround them.

The Olympia house has passed a [illegible] bill that is sure to be pronounced unconstitutional the moment that it [illegible] is brought before its court. Because it discriminates between physicians resident in Washington before the passage of the act and physicians who may hereafter become residents. The Oregon act contains the same vital defect, but no physician has as yet cared to test the law. THE OREGONIAN last year showed by the recital of the opinion of Mr. Justice Clarke of the supreme court of New Hampshire that the Oregon act was clearly unconstitutional. The New Hampshire act which is substantially identical with that of Oregon was tested by a dentist who refused to comply with the law on the ground of unconstitutional discrimination between dentists resident before its passage and those who subsequently become residents. The new Oregon quacks are foolish to submit to examination or pay any fee or submit to any discipline under this law, because the moment they make a test case our court cannot but accept the ruling of the New Hampshire supreme court. The reason why the new comers don't test the law by refusing to comply with it is probably because it costs less to obey it than to test it. A smart quack lawyer or smart practitioner who was not a quack could advertise himself to his advantage by making a test case before our courts.

The passenger rate war is absorbing public attention just now. Americans like to travel and the prospect of fares that will enable them to travel cheaper than they can stay at home is delightful. All the roads, says the Chicago Times, realize that the sooner the demoralization is complete the quicker will come the reaction and restoration of peace, and if rates are not low enough to force a speedy settlement of the difficulty they will go lower in a few days. The various companies involved in the warfare are glaring at each other as if each expected an aggressive movement and was prepared to meet it promptly. The general opinion is that the fight having reached its present stage must go on to its issue. Apparently the situation is not serious enough yet to cool the anger of the general passenger agents and they will probably strike back at each other more viciously still before they are ready to retire and call the fight a draw. In the meantime they are sacrificing the revenue of their respective companies and contributing to the happiness of the traveling public that next to free riding enjoys cheap riding, while reserving the privilege of growling at corporations and denouncing railroad [illegible] Pacific coast people are looking on anxiously hoping that they may not be shut out from a full benefit of the [illegible]

It is estimated that the twenty counties in South Dakota that suffered disastrously from drouth last year will need for seeding purposes this spring 530,000 bushels of wheat, 163,400 bushels of oats, 7[illegible] bushels of flax, 76,000 bushels of barley, 21[illegible] bushels of corn and 15,000 bushels of millet, and that about $570,000 will be required to buy this grain. These figures are based on careful estimates of area made by the seed wheat and fuel convention held at Huron, S. D., the first of this month. Of the amount required the counties benefited can, it is thought, raise three-fourths and the remainder will have to be secured by outside contribution. Organized, systematic self help and a good crop year will place the farmer of this region, catalogued as destitute, upon the road to prosperity. It is one of the cases where it is necessary to labor and to wait to secure beneficial results.

Water is a powerful agent. All concede this, but when it so paralyzes an inebriate as to make him unable to open his mouth when whiskey is given him to drink, its power is indeed wonderful. This was true in the case of a drunken man who was pulled out of the river at Stark street the other night, the doctor actually having to pry his jaws open to get a little of his favorite beverage into his strangely reluctant mouth. We must attribute this phenomenon either to the peculiar potency of Willamette river water, or to the subject's unfamiliarity with the element, either in the form of a beverage or of a bath.

There is a story that a British syndicate has been formed to buy the Columbia river salmon canneries, paying a million dollars therefor. If this is true it is probably because the present owners can make more money by selling out than by conducting their industry under existing conditions, which the excessive demands of the fishermen and the competition of Indian cheap labor in Alaska make rather arduous.

La grippe as it comes by mail direct from Russia is evidently not the mild disorder that paragraphists (who have escaped it) have been making merry over for the past three months. Three employes of the [illegible] postoffice died Sunday of the disease, having contracted it from distributing the Russian mails.

The tide land bill passed the Washington house last night in pretty near its original form. There are some things in the bill more satisfactory to owners of tide lands than to the taxpayers of Washington.

THE COUNTY REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

A Division in the Committee—Proposition by One Side to the Other

There appears to be a division in the county republican committee of this county as to the [illegible] manner of holding the primaries. The following paper has been drawn up and THE OREGONIAN is requested to publish it. It is signed by three members of the committee and [illegible] the other three. It has long been known that there were dissensions in the county republican committee, but this manifesto is the first notice to the public that these difficulties may not be easy of adjustment. Yet if there is a desire on all sides to be fair as there should be, an agreement ought to be reached on a basis that will insure a fair result in the primaries.

THE MANIFESTO.

PORTLAND, Or, March 11, 1890.

To Messrs. James Lotan, J. [illegible] Brown and James M. Stott, Members Republican Committee Multnomah County—Gentlemen: The importance of conducting the primary election for the selection of delegates to the republican county convention soon to be called in this county, in such manner as to satisfy the people of its fairness, in our judgment cannot be overestimated. As is well known we have no law governing such an election, and its entire conduct and management is in the hands of the county committee, therefore it is more important that no suspicion or imposition or fraud should attach to any of its proceedings.

There has been in the past some feeling of uneasiness and distrust in the party over the appointment of the judges who have been named to conduct such elections. This feeling ought to be dispelled and in such manner as to leave no doubt in the minds of the republicans of this county as to the absolute fairness and impartiality of such elections.

The death of one of the members of the republican committee of this county leaves it with but six members. Substantially the only important duty that now remains for this committee (although it is of paramount importance) is to make an apportionment of the number of delegates that each polling place in the county is entitled to elect, and to appoint judges who will conduct such primary election.

The undersigned, three members of the committee, in view of what has already transpired and what is currently understood to be the programme mapped out by the remaining three committeemen, feel confident that no list of judges, whose names will be a guaranty of fairness, impartiality and honesty of purpose to conduct the primary election in the several polling places in the city of Portland can be agreed upon.

Considering the sentiment rapidly growing all over the country, and which has rapidly taken root here, that there should be a reform not only in the system of conducting primary elections but in the manner of conducting general elections, this feeling is to be seriously deplored.

As members of the committee we earnestly desire that there shall not only be absolute fairness and honesty in the conduct of the primary election, but that the republicans of this county shall feel certain in advance that they will have the right to cast their votes at such primary election, that at the same will be fairly counted and that the delegates who have received an honest majority of all the votes cast shall be returned as elected.

For this purpose we suggest that an apportionment be made based upon the republican vote cast at the last general election in this county, and that for the several polling places in the city of Portland the following well known republicans be appointed as judges to conduct such election:

South Portland Precinct—Henry Failing, Jacob Meyer, I. L. Eliot, [illegible] Arnold, William M. Ladd, George T. Myers, M. C. [illegible], George James Steel, C. H. Dodd, R. P. Earhart, John Wilson, E. B. Kearney, Van B. DeLashmutt, William Wadhams, A. B. Croasman, B. [illegible] Cardwell, [illegible] Akin, A. N. Gambell, [illegible] A. Marquam, J. A. Strowbridge, Almon Smith.

North Portland Precinct—John McCraken, George Hartness, C. H. Lewis, I. Wasserman, A. E. Borthwick, J. R. Brigham, H. L. Pittock, C. H. Woolard, J. I. Marshall, J. W. Cook, David Goodsell, Henry Failing, W. B. Gilbert, [illegible] Greene, Harvey Hogue, Donald Mackay, M. C. Hall, Ed Holman, George H. Flanders, [illegible] Holbrook, A. H. Tanner.

We have given three names for each of the fourteen polling places in the city of Portland.

We desire to state that all we ask for is an assurance of a fair election. We are not tenacious about the names we have suggested. We are willing to accept and vote with you for any other republicans of equal standing in the community whose names will inspire equal confidence in place of those we have suggested. Very respectfully,

J. C. CARSON,
A. W. WITHERELL,
J. M. BLEICK.

The Tide Lands Bill Passes the House Without Difficulty.

EASTERN WASHINGTON DISGUSTED

Relations of Improvers and Shore Owners—The Senate Likely to Concur—An Exciting Night Session

OLYMPIA, March 11.—[Special Telegram.]—The passage of the tide lands bill in the house tonight ended perhaps the bitterest and certainly the most memorable fight that has ever taken place in the legislature of Washington. It was a battle between Western Washington and Eastern Washington and the clam eaters out fought the bunchgrassers. Six easterners, Clark, Grubb, Hamilton, Nash, Power and Straight voted for the bill and seven west siders, Cook, Eddy, Judson of Whatcom, [illegible] Minkler, Moultray and Tucker voted against it. The principal bone of contention is the high estimate of the value of the lands entertained by the men from east of the mountains. These estimates range from $2,000,000 to $100,000,000. Speaker Feighan in his speech tonight [illegible] that if the lands were properly sold it would not be necessary to levy a state tax for 100 years. [illegible] by any method the state will net $1,000,000 from sale of the land.

Eastern men who voted against the bill were [illegible] constituents [illegible] these same constituents further believe that the state will be swindled out of millions [illegible] the provisions of the bill [illegible] Judson of [illegible] in the house to-night that at [illegible] ten men of his county favored the bill. His statement fairly represents the sentiment in some parts of Eastern Washington. It is generally conceded now that [illegible] of the bill to pass as Friday was the best [illegible] that ever happened [illegible] Several important [illegible] were made which gained for it the votes of Judson of Pierce and Blackburn. Several others wanted to vote for the bill but had not have the moral courage. Judson's announcement just before the roll call that he would vote for the bill earned a ripple of applause.

Following are the pivot sections of the amended bill:

Section 11—The owner or owners of any lands abutting or fronting upon, or bounded by the shore of the Pacific ocean or of any bay, harbor, sound, inlet, lake or water course shall have the right for sixty days following the filing of final appraisal of tide lands to purchase all or any part of the tide lands in front of the lands so owned; provided, that if valuable improvements in actual use for commerce, trade or business have been made upon said tide lands, then the person, association or corporation, the owner or owners of such improvements shall have the exclusive right to purchase land so improved for the period aforesaid; provided, that nothing in this act shall be so construed to apply to any improvements made after the passage of this act; and provided further, that the occupant who has prior to the passage of this act planted oysters in any bay or arm of the sea upon ground not covered with natural oysters, or who has prior to the passage of this act acquired by purchase the rights of any other person or corporation to such occupancy, the same being not within or in front of the limit of any incorporated city or town or within two miles on each side thereof, shall have the exclusive right to purchase the lands so occupied for the period aforesaid, to an extent not exceeding [illegible] acres.

Section 12. When the abutting upland owner has attempted to convey by deed to a bona fide purchaser any portion of the tide lands in front of such uplands or littoral rights therein, such right of purchase herein given to the upland owner shall be construed to belong to such purchaser or to any person or association or corporation claiming by, through or under such purchaser to the extent of the tract or rights so conveyed.

According to section 13, if the upland owner or improver shall fail to exercise his right of purchase, the land shall be sold at public auction.

The house had a monkey and parrot time with the tide lands bill this morning when the committee on harbors and navigable waters presented the amendments agreed upon at its meeting. Accompanying the report was an engrossed copy of the bill. The opposition had decided to make war on the report and to fight for time by having the bill printed, and Purdy made a motion to this effect. Stevenson offered as an amendment that the report be adopted. Speaker Feighan took the floor and protested against the adoption of the report. He said the committee had returned the bill with every objectionable feature it contained prior to its reference. The idea of the bill he said was to give the upland owner the preemption right of purchase, whether he was the improver or not, and he would oppose it on this ground, the committee having ignored his suggestions on this point. He objected to the survey of lands within two miles of the limits of cities, the committee having substituted this provision for the one mile limit.

A long fight then ensued. McReavy indignantly charged that the opposition wanted the bill printed for no other reason than to waste time. Ostrander asserted that the bill if printed would gain ten votes. He followed it up with a confession that he would not vote for the bill under any circumstances, thereby letting the opposition cat out of the bag. The report of the committee was then adopted—ayes 79, nays 2. Blackburn, Eddy, Lull and Judson of Pierce, who voted with the opposition last week, voted for the report. The motion to print was then voted down. The vote was afterwards reconsidered and the bill ordered printed and made the special order for 7 o'clock this evening.

The fight was resumed this evening with Geoghegan in the chair, Speaker Feighan taking the floor to lead the opposition forces in the filibustering. The friendly forces stood firm on the main proposition, but broke line several times on minor questions, yet not enough of them bolted to do harm.

Eddy started the ball rolling by offering an amendment to section 2, to take the secretary of state and state auditor from the board of equalization. It was voted down.

Feighan followed with an amendment to section 3, which proposed to make the board of appraisers consist of three disinterested free holders instead of residents of the counties where there are tide lands. It was rejected.

Gandy then proposed to abolish the two-mile limit and open to survey only land within the corporate limits or within one mile thereof. It was defeated.

Feighan resumed the fight with an amendment to section 4, requiring improvements to be permanent and valuable instead of only valuable. Feighan said this was aimed at tide land jumpers. Kuhn said this would raise a delicate question as wood, being eaten by the teredo, would not be considered permanent. The amendment was rejected.

Eddy succeeded in getting in a minor amendment making appraisement apply to towns as well as cities.

Feighan bobbed up with a proviso that no land be sold at a price which does not equal or exceed the cost of appraisal and sale. It was also beaten.

Judson of Pierce suggested that money forfeited to the state by reason of a person asking for survey and having failed to purchase be put in the tide land fund, instead of the state fund.

Robertson proposed an amendment to section 4 that every person applying for a survey of land shall deposit a bond that he shall within three years make improvements to the amount of $1000 per acre for each acre applied for, the bond to be for double the amount of the value of the improvements. It was rejected.

Spencer came next with a motion to strike out all that part of section 4 providing for survey of lands outside of the corporate limits of cities and towns. It was voted down.

Eddy came to the front again with an amendment requiring unsurveyed lands of the third class to be surveyed only on application. It was knocked out.

Feighan offered an amendment providing that tide lands contiguous to cities or any platted addition thereto shall be platted to conform with the plat thereof. He thought this would increase the salable value of the land. Sims said this would shoulder the cost of street improvement on the state. The house agreed with Sims and killed the amendment.

Eddy was up again with a proposed change to section 6, requiring lands to be surveyed at the full cash value. It was killed.

Kennedy varied the monotony by rising to a question of privilege and charging that the two mile limit was not a committee amendment. The records of the committee meeting showed that Kennedy was right.

Herren moved to amend to insert a two mile limit. It prevailed—ayes 32, nays 31. Blackburn, Huntington, Nash and Shinn voted with the opposition.

Feighan waited until section 9 was reached, when he proposed that it should be changed so that in cases of appeal services may be had upon the agent or attorney of the applicant to purchase. This was adopted.

Feighan then submitted another change striking out the provision making the decision of the [illegible] of equalization as to the value of lands subject to appeal. This was also adopted.

Feighan's amendment to section 9 that the costs of appeal be not taxed to the appellant unless it is found that the appeal was taken for the purpose of delay or annoyance was voted down.

Feighan offered a substitute for section 11 which recognized the rights of abutting owner [illegible] and owners. The substitute recognized the right of upland owners only when they have made improvements and gave improvers exclusive right of purchase [illegible] days [illegible] This is the pivot section and [illegible] the fate of the bill. [illegible] made a strong speech against the substitute and argued [illegible] United States patents. He charged that last week the opposition claimed that there were millions in tide lands, while they now maintain that only lands in front of cities are valuable and the rest should be held for increased value. Oregon, said Evans, sold its tide lands for not less than $1.25 an acre and California for $1, while illiberal Washington wants to sell them for an unlimited price. After a long debate the substitute was rejected—yeas 27, nays 47. Eddy, of the opposition, voted against the substitute, and Nash, a friend of the bill, voted aye.

Robertson began on section 13, with an amendment to strike out the right of the grantee of the upland owner to the extent of the tract so conveyed to him by the deed he holds. Pickrell tried to strike out the entire section, but failed. On roll call Robertson's amendment was defeated, ayes 27, nays 37.

The reading was finished at 9:30 o'clock, and the bill was placed upon its final passage. Moultray made a laughable ungrammatical speech against the bill. "Let us kill it which it should die," he said. This caused a big laugh at his expense. Eddy in speaking of a section of the bill asked: "Why was this not made plain enough so that a fool could understand it?" [Laughter.] Speaker Feighan said if the tide lands were sold at their proper value it would not be necessary to levy anything but a local tax for the next 100 years. Cries of "Oh!" greeted this assertion. Feighan gauged the value of the lands by the size of the lobby here to urge the passage of the bill. He concluded by saying that if the bill passed, it would be no credit to any man for having been a member of the first legislature.

Herren maintained the integrity of the friends of the bill in a short speech. He was for recognizing the rights of the men who came in early days and built improvements. Robertson, being an upland owner, was excused from voting at his own request.

The roll was called at 10 o'clock and the bill was passed by the following vote:

When it became known that the bill had passed a great cheer went up from the south side of the house, where a majority of the friends of the bill were seated. The roll was then called on the emergency clause, which failed of a two-thirds majority of all the members, the ayes being 41, nays 20. Cook, Eddy, Judson of Whatcom, Lull, Moultray and Tucker, who voted against the bill, voted for the emergency clause, and Hamilton and Rotch, who voted for the bill, voted against. Moultray gracefully said he knew when he was licked, and acknowledged it.

Robertson then moved to amend the title of the bill to make it read "An act to deprive the state of Washington of its tide lands," and declaring an emergency. This provoked great uproar. The chair declared it out of order. The house then adjourned.

The senate held a three hour session this afternoon and did little else than listen to the reading of the substitute bill submitted by the committee on municipal corporations, providing for the organization, classification, etc., of cities. The bill is composed of seven chapters and is very voluminous. But half the bill was read and but few amendments offered to any of the sections. As amended under provisions of that part of the bill considered, the treasurer of any city shall not receive a salary exceeding $1500 per annum, nor shall councils be empowered to license cock fights or dog fights, and no city clerk shall receive a salary exceeding $150 per per month. The reading of the bill will be continued to-morrow.

The free conference committees on Kinnear's soldiers' home bill agreed to-night to recommend that the provision in dispute providing that the board of trustees shall be composed of three veterans and three militia be stricken out. The house did not want National guardsmen to have anything to do with the home.

Representative Hughes's revenue and taxation bill as amended by the joint committee on revenue and taxation, has been made the special order for 11 A. M. in the house to-morrow. The consideration of it will consume the rest of the week.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—[Special Telegram.]—It is rumored, and with some show of truth, that the tide land decision now pending before the secretary of the interior will be decided against the state of Washington and in favor of the men who have located the scrip.

An official of the interior department said today that it was merely a question as to whether the strip of shore which was overflowed when the tide was in, and was land when the tide was out, could be considered as land or a part of the ocean. If it was land it was subject to entry by scrip. If water it was the property of the state. It may be assumed that the men with the scrip have not the best of the Washington tide land cases.

House Proceedings.

The following bills were introduced:

By Geoghegan—Appropriating $5000 to pay for a state exhibit at the G. A. R. encampment at Boston. Appropriations.

By Plummer—For the relief of the Puget Sound pilot commissioners. Appropriations.

Senate Proceedings.

In the senate to-day the emergency clause in [illegible] bill exempting firemen from jury duty and also to Wooding's bill authorizing cities to erect and maintain drawbridges, were taken from the table and passed.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

JAY GOULD TO WED AGAIN.

The Victim Is a Handsome Millionaire Widow of 26

NEW YORK, March 11.—The World this morning will say: It is reported that Jay Gould is to wed again, the lady being Mrs. Maurice B. Flynn, widow of Maurice Flynn, who died last year, and daughter of Theodore Moss, who is well known in Wall street and theatrical circles. Mrs. Flynn is a handsome brunette of 25 or 26 years of age.

Players' League Preparing for Operations.

CLEVELAND, March 11.—The Players' League convention to-day adopted the schedule without discussion. The season opens April 21 and closes October 4. After disposing of it, a resolution was adopted allowing home clubs 2 per cent. of the total tickets sold per game for free passes. A standing auditing committee was appointed. A contract for three years was entered into with T. J. Keefe, who is to supply balls for the new league. It was resolved to uniform umpires in white and the secretary was authorized to select the time and place for consultation of umpires on playing rules. The meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the president. When asked what had been done about Dunlap and Mulvey, Secretary Brunnell said no action was taken on Mulvey's case and refused to talk about Dunlap. It is understood Dunlap is to go to the New York team.

A $20,000 prize fund will be thus distributed: To the club winning the championship $6,500, second place, $4800, third place, $3500, fourth place, $2500, fifth place, $1700, sixth place, $600, seventh place, $100.

Canadian Tories Shield a Rascal

OTTAWA, March 11.—Charles Rykert, conservative, is charged with abusing his position as a member of parliament to secure large timber limits in the Northwest at a nominal price and then selling them, making money by the operation. In the commons to-night Sir Richard Cartwright moved for an investigation into his conduct. A number of government members, however, endeavored to shield him. Cartwright's motion for immediate inquiry was met by a government amendment for adjournment of the debate. After a division this was carried. This action of the government will prohibit the discussion coming up again till the end of the session.

Fatally Shocked by a Quiet Wedding

CHICAGO, March 11.—John T. Lester, a wealthy stock broker, died to-day. He had been an invalid two or three years on account of too close application to business. A couple of weeks ago he started for a Southern health resort, but became alarmingly ill and was brought home. Some of his friends assert that the fatal prostration was due to the manner of his daughter's marriage some weeks ago to a son of P. D. Armour. The Lesters had arranged for grand wedding festivities. Young Armour disapproved and taking the girl to Milwaukee had a quiet marriage. The shock of this, it is said, completely upset the invalid.

Chicago Club Man's Breach of Promise.

CHICAGO, March 11.—A suit for $100,000 for breach of promise of marriage has commenced in the federal circuit court to-day against Louis C. Wachsmuth, senior member of the firm of L. C. Wachsmuth & Co., wholesale clothiers. The plaintiff is Miss Jennie M. Paul, a stately brunette of 2[illegible], a daughter of the late A. W. Paul, formerly a prominent lumber merchant. Her attorneys refuse to give any details until the action comes up. Wachsmuth is a bachelor 37 years of age and quite a favorite in club circles. He is absent from the city at present, and his brother did not have much knowledge of the case.

Woman Burned After a Coal Oil Bath

to but Satisfactory Entertainment—[illegible] Barefoot" To Night.

anchon was presented last night at the Mar[illegible] Grand by Maggie Mitchell and her company [illegible]r difficulties. The steamer on which the [illegible]ers had taken passage did not arrive at [illegible] dock until 8:30 and it was 9:45 when the [illegible]formance began. The audience was in a [illegible] and [illegible] well chosen words explained the situation, [illegible] soul in the house gave vent to a [illegible] of [illegible]tience.

[illegible]anchon" is one of those dramatic creations [illegible] retain their hold upon popular affection be[illegible] of the strong human elements which com[illegible] such cone and incident [illegible] motive ap[illegible] to the heart while the background of weird [illegible] nation and strange peasant superstition [illegible] the desert [illegible] the curious [illegible] Mitchell has made Fan[illegible] [illegible] and the years that [illegible] passed over her have in no [illegible] dulled the keen edge of the artist's work [illegible] was a personal magnetism about the little [illegible] an and her work has won her the favor [illegible] audience when she had only been upon the [illegible] moment. Not the least charm [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible]

M. Conlan as Father Barbeaud had [illegible] to do, save in the fifth act [illegible] he easily [illegible] naturally took advantage of [illegible] opportunity [illegible] did a splendid bit of character portrayal. [illegible] George F. Devere played Mother Barbeaud [illegible] much natural cleverness. Her work was [illegible] and clear cut. In fact the company is com[illegible]d of artists, and they all play in acceptable [illegible]k.

[illegible] are the central characters around whom [illegible] others revolve but only to furnish a frame[illegible]k, a background for the action of the play. [illegible]anchon" as a whole was an harmonious pre[illegible] tation and although it gains attended much [illegible] than the usual hour it gives [illegible] as Portland's are rarely permitted to [illegible] the incidentals both in music, stage effects [illegible] scene arrangements were thoroughly cared [illegible] The [illegible] dance seemed to have [illegible] from a French work of art, [illegible] pleasing and charming. To-night the [illegible] will be "Little Barefoot," which is said to be [illegible] charming and [illegible] style of modern [illegible] full of humor as [illegible] and offers [illegible] Mitchell a splendid opportunity for the dis[illegible] of gifts as rare as they are pleasing.

"QUEENA" AT THE NEW PARK.

[illegible] no her large and once witnessed the presenta[illegible] of "Queena" at the New Park theatre last [illegible] night and as on the opening night Miss Caro[illegible] Gage was the recipient of several well merit[illegible] ovations. Young and beautiful, with a finely [illegible] portioned physique and [illegible] of more [illegible] ordinary talents she is [illegible] rising in the [illegible] ranks of her profession. She enacts her [illegible] with force and feeling and always [illegible]ves a good impression on her hearers. The [illegible] of the company were up to the usual stand[illegible] of good work.

[illegible] the Galley Slave will be presented at this house [illegible] evening. Howe's popular prices and the [illegible] company are once more bringing the New [illegible] to the front. CORDRAY'S MUSEE THEATER.

A fine house greeted the second performance of [illegible]agomar last night and judging from the fre[illegible]nt applause must have held the interest of all [illegible] the end of the performance. Everything and [illegible]yone on or connected with the stage moved [illegible] smoothly [illegible], with the handsome costumes and [illegible] scenery it certainly makes one of the most [illegible]joyable performances given at this popular [illegible]use.

[illegible]he musee stage performance is especially good [illegible]s week, including a novelty in the way of a [illegible]hadowgraph by the European artists, Mason [illegible]d Titus.

BILL NYE'S MANAGER.

The genius of Major J. B. Pond, who formerly [illegible] Beecher arises supreme in an emer[illegible]ncy. When through the peculiarities of [illegible] combination [illegible] poetic fancy for wine, the great [illegible] combination divided, a loss of $5,000 [illegible] the major in the face. Then it was that [illegible] arose in his might. Instead of falling dead [illegible] immediately engaged Gustave Thalberg the [illegible] Swedish tenor and Ollie Torbett, the [illegible]illiant young violinist, and sent them to join [illegible] in his lecture tour and make up a medley of [illegible] and music. Of course the expense far [illegible]ceeded that of Nye and Riley but the returns [illegible] the major has a level head.

A Miraculous and Speedy Cure of Catarrh which had Extended to the Eye and Threatened Blindness and Death.

J. D. CORBETT MADE A NEW MAN.

A Terrible Sufferer from that Prevalent Disease Instantly Relieved when Death Seemed Almost Inevitable, by Dr. Aborn, the Successful Eye, Ear, Catarrh, Throat & Lung Physician.

HE WRITES HIS OWN TESTIMONIAL

And Swears to It Before W. W. Roberts, Deputy United States Marshal, as Acting Notary.

CITY OF PORTLAND, COUNTY OF MULTNOMAH } ss.

Personally appeared before me this 8th day of March, 1890, J. D. Corbett, who being duly sworn, deposes and says:

I CHEERFULLY, WITH A GRATEFUL HEART, state the facts concerning my case and my almost magic relief under the skilful treatment of Dr. Aborn, Fourth and Morrison streets, Portland, which are as follows:

I have been PAINFULLY AND SERIOUSLY AFFLICTED with NASAL CATARRH and have paid out to doctors over a thousand dollars during the past year without permanent relief. But instead of relief I FOUND MYSELF IN ALMOST A DYING CONDITION one week ago. The disease spread to my left eye which was so inflamed that it was closed tight so that it was impossible to see that I had an eye in my head, and the pain was so great and intense that I had not slept for five nights nor had I been able to eat a mouthful of anything for a week. I was put on the train at Kamela, Oregon, some 287 miles east of Portland, for the purpose of visiting Dr. Aborn at Portland and I did not really seem to care whether I lived another day or no, my suffering was so great and intense.

I arrived in Portland last Saturday March 1 and came direct from the train to the office of Dr. ABORN at noon. The doctor took my case in hand, and IN FIVE HOURS' TIME, TO MY GREAT SURPRISE AND RELIEF, BY HIS SKILLFUL TREATMENT, I COULD OPEN MY EYE, AND I WENT TO BED THAT NIGHT AND SLEPT FOR THE FIRST TIME IN A WEEK and the PAINS and INFLAMMATION ALL SUBSIDED SO RAPIDLY THAT IN 48 HOURS I FELT and LOOKED LIKE A NEW MAN and have IMPROVED SO RAPIDLY IN A WEEK'S TIME THAT ONE WHO SAW ME LAST SATURDAY WHO WOULD SEE ME TO-DAY WOULD SCARCELY BELIEVE THAT I AM THE SAME MAN. I now eat and sleep as was my custom before being ill.

I have not language to express my praise for the gratitude I feel toward Dr. Aborn for the speedy relief he has given me, which was almost instantaneous.

LIBERATI WILL PLAY

Important Session of the Industrial Fair Directors.

ALLEN CHOSEN SUPERINTENDENT

The Sailor Boarding House Runners and Their Latest Exploit.

THE CITY JAIL SAID TO BE INSECURE

The Executive Committee of the Ballot Reform League—Obstructing the Streets—Military Matters—Affairs in Portland Harbor.

A special meeting of the Board of directors of the North Pacific Industrial Fair Association was called to order at 7 30 last evening by President Frank Dekum, at the office of the association at the Exposition building.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The chair stated that the first matter of business was the election of a director to fill the place resigned by Mr. Donald Macleay. On motion Mr. Charles Woodard was elected to the vacancy.

The next thing in order was the election of a superintendent to fill the place of General William Kapus, resigned. Mr. F. A. E. Starr moved that E W. Allen be elected to that position. No objection being made, the motion was put and unanimously carried. Mr. Allen was accordingly declared elected to the office of superintendent.

General William Kapus moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the stock of the association was placed on the market Considerable discussion ensued, and it was finally thought best, although a great demand had been made for stock, to put its price again at a par valuation. The idea of the majority seemed to be that those who desired to purchase stock should be given the same privilege as the directors had, that is, of securing it at par. The matter came eventually to vote, and was carried unanimously in accordance with General Kapus's second motion, putting the stock at par.

Secretary E. W. Allen then announced the committees of the association, as previously published in THE OREGONIAN.

President Dekum next announced that the question of music for the fair would have to be considered by the directors.

Secretary E. W Allen then made an exhaustive statement of the correspondence he had had with all the great bands of this country, and the best of Mexico and the Sandwich Islands. He said the music committee had been more particular in their correspondence with Liberati, than anyone else, because he had been more definite as to terms He therefore reported slightly in favor of Liberati. The report was adopted and the matter referred back to the music committee, with power to act. There is scarcely any doubt that Liberati will be engaged at a cost not exceeding $12,000.

In view of the fact that Liberati's band won its way to a high place in the popular regard while here last fall, the selection could not have been bettered, particularly as Gilmore has already been engaged to play at St. Louis.

SAILOR RUNNERS AGAIN HEARD FROM.

At Their Old Tricks—They Enticed Six Seamen Away From the English Ship Nereus.

The sailor boarding house runners have again got in their work, and caused six seamen to desert from the English ship Nereus, at 1 o'clock Monday morning.

The ship was ready to leave the dock at Astoria Sunday, and the officers tried to secure the services of a tow boat to put them in the stream where the men could not clamber ashore without being detected, but owing to the force of the tide a boat would not attempt it. Leaving orders for a careful watch to be kept by the officers, Captain Lang came to Portland on the night boat, and Monday morning received his clearance papers from the custom house officials. When all ready to embark, he received a telegram from his second mate informing him of the ship's loss. Captain Lang, speaking to a reporter said

"The men the night before were ashore drinking and having a good time, as it was to be their last night on land. They all appeared to be steady fellows, shipped from Montevideo, and have been with the ship about seven months. While at Portland they were allowed all the liberty they desired, and showed no disposition to desert. I wasn't sure but I hardly thought they could be prevailed upon to skip out, down there. In fact, I don't think they wanted to leave the ship; but as soon as they go on shore runners have them in tow, and by threats, and ofttimes abuse, arouse the men's fears and they do not show up, being afraid of getting half killed.

"Now I am all ready to put to sea, but can't go until the men are either secured, or replaced. There are no available sailors in Portland, and there is only one thing for me to do—pay those robbers their own price, which is now held at $65 a man, making me the victim of a cold steal to the extent of nearly $400

Captain Steel, of the Lorton, could not get justice, and was forced to pay the regulation price of blood money to secure four men that he had already once paid for. The ship Oberon was subjected to like treatment, and as far as I can see, the runners receive the approbation of the majority of the people, for no apparent effort is made to stop this systematic thieving."

Captain Lang could not state positively that the men had been induced to desert, as the dispatch failed to give the circumstances of the seamen leaving, but he is confident that his surmises are correct.

One well-known boarding-house runner is now under a $1000 bond to appear before the grand jury for having boarded the Oberon, without the consent of the master. Concluding, the captain said

"It is a very common occurrence for seamen to desert, but in all my years of seafaring I never struck a place like Astoria"

Captain Lang went down to Astoria last night, and will endeavor to secure his men and put to sea as soon as possible.

RUSH DID THE "RUSH" ACT.

Another Prisoner Makes His Escape From the Rotten City Jail.

"The bird hath flown." That was what was told Deputy District Attorney N D. Simon in the police court yesterday afternoon, when he came to try H Rush on a charge of larceny. A look of disgust, not unmingled with righteous indignation, o'erspread the usually calm features of Mr. Simon as he received this startling information. He was not very much surprised, for he had heard of such occurrences before, and not at any very remote date, either.

Rush had taken leg bail by digging his way out of a cell during the night. He used a common stick of wood, which he sharpened with a case-knife, and dug a hole with it through the rotten brick and mortar in the rear wall of the prison in a very short time large enough to squeeze himself through. So many prisoners have escaped from the city jail during the past year that it is high time some steps were taken to build a new one. It affords no security whatever, and it seems to rest entirely with the prisoners whether they wish to remain in or go out It is like trying to confine cattle in a yard without a fence around it.

The walls of the city jail are absolutely rotten, and it is a wonder that the building has not collapsed long before this. It is impossible to keep it clean, and its sanitary conditions are such that only the toughest hobo can live within the dirt-begrimed and strong flavored walls longer than twenty-four hours.

As an institution for saving expense of food for prisoners, and costs of prosecution, the city jail is a success; but as an institution for the confinement of criminals, it is a failure. It does not fill the bill.

BALLOT REFORM LEAGUE.

A Meeting Held by the Executive Committee—Various Important Matters Considered and Acted Upon.

The following members of the executive committee, C. H. Woodard, chairman, E. W Bingham, secretary; Judge L. L. McArthur, Judge John Catlin, H. E Hayes, G. M. Miller and John Gill, met at Judge Catlin's court room Monday night, and held their first meeting.

The secretary was directed to prepare a suitable subscription book for each member of the finance committee, and also to make such announcement through the press as would most assist the committee in obtaining voluntary contributions to meet the expenses of the league.

It was considered advisable to procure articles upon ballot reform, and information generally on the subject, and print and distribute the same extensively throughout the state. To accomplish this a committee on printing and publishing was appointed, consisting of John Gill, E. W. Bingham and G. M. Miller, who were directed to invite [illegible] to write articles on the subject, [illegible] permission to the committee to [illegible] the whole of the articles or any portions thereof over the signatures of the writers.

Judge McArthur was requested to prepare an address from the league to the people of Oregon, to be submitted at the next meeting of the executive committee, and afterwards published.

It was considered best to at once prepare a first draft of a bill and have it printed Then to distribute it among the friends of the movement throughout the state, requesting each one to carefully consider it and return the draft to the secretary with his approval, or else with his suggestions for its amendment. The following persons were appointed to prepare this first draft, and report it to the executive committee at its next meeting: Judge L. L. McArthur, E. W. Bingham, H. E. Hayes, W. M. Gregory, G. M. Miller, John O'Brien, W. H. Dobbins.

The secretary was instructed to continue enrolling members, and to make it known that the committee desires all voters, of all parties and all over the state, who desire to aid or encourage the movement for ballot reform, to join the league; and that in order to do so they shall send their names and postoffice addresses to the secretary, E. W. Bingham, No 74 Morrison street, Portland, who will send them blanks for the purpose.

The committee then adjourned to meet again Friday evening

FILLING UP THE STREETS.

The Public Thoroughfares Should Not Be Obstructed Longer Than Necessary.

It is a pleasant thing to see improvements going on around town, but the way in which streets are lumbered up in some places, on account of these improvements is not pleasant. Sometimes this obstructing of the streets is necessary, but very often it is much worse and is kept up much longer than is necessary. There are a number of changes in buildings going on at present about the intersection of Second and Morrison streets. Morrison street is piled with refuse lumber and rubbish on both sides just west of Second, and just east of Second the street for half a block is piled with lumber and fixtures, and on Second, north of Morrison, one side of the street is piled with rubbish. All these obstructions of the street are necessary, owing to the extensive improvements in progress there; but if due dilligence were used, some of this stuff could have been removed sooner Because a person is given permission to use a part of a street for a time, it is no reason why he should continue to encumber the street any longer than is positively necessary.

BUSY SCENES ABOUT THE HARBOR.

Vessels Coming and Going—An American Ship in Port—The E. N. Cooke to Be Raised.

Shipping is again picking up, and with the incoming of many vessels the docks will soon present a busy scene. The American ship Belle of Bath arrived in tow of the Ocklahoma last night at 6 30 o'clock and was docked at the foot of B street. She came up drawing nearly twenty feet of water, and Captain Empkins of the Ocklahama has been successful in making one of the quickest trips on record.

James Joseph, one of the injured colored seamen of the Clan Mackenzie who has been in the hospital at Astoria, came to Portland on the Telephone yesterday afternoon, and returned aboard his vessel When the Oregon struck the Mackenzie, Joseph was asleep in a bunk next to the one occupied by the two sailors who were killed, and was badly hurt, his hip bone being broken, also several ribs The man still limps, and is far from being entirely recovered.

The Whitelaw, having passed the inspection of her hull successfully, the United States local inspectors proceeded to inspect the vessel's boilers yesterday afternoon The big boiler was tested by the means of the donkey boiler, and found to be all right, but when attempting to test the donkey boiler, through the medium of the vessel's main boiler, one of the connecting pipes burst, and caused the postponement of further inspection for the time being.

Iredale, a British bark, left Astoria in tow o' the Bonita at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The vessel is entirely new, this being her maiden voyage, but Captain Little is an old stager, and a year ago visited this port in the English ship Cockermouth, which vessel is now in San Francisco harbor. The Iredale is forty-one days from Mazatlan, down the Southern coast, and comes in ballast. She will dock at Greenwich and load with wheat for the United Kingdom.

The work on the cofferdam, which is to play an important part in the repairing of the Clan Mackenzie, is assuming shape The carpenters are doing their work on the dock alongside the vessel. Nearly all the ragged plating has been removed from the damaged ship's bows, and in a few days will be ready for the "patch".

Lying just above the steel bridge, discharging coal at the bunkers, is the steamer Signal, and the Lakme is at the lower end of Ainsworth dock, taking aboard a general cargo of merchandise. The Michigan, the third of the three Sound schooners, passed out over the bar yesterday in company with the Alliance.

At Coluna dock is the three masted schooner American Girl She will finish discharging her cargo of general merchandise to-day, which she brought from San Francisco, and will leave down for St. Helens this afternoon, where she is to load with lumber for San Diego

With the recedence of the river, work on the locks at Oregon City, has been recommenced in good earnest, and the superintendent of operations promises to have a steamer through by Friday, and, by Monday, the locks will be open to every boat.

Workmen are forcing the raising of the E N. Cooke, and if the big pumps, barges and lines don't give way, the steamer is expected to be afloat by this evening.

The State of California arrived at Steamship dock last night. She contains a large cargo of general merchandise and has the usual large passenger list.

The schooner Norway crossed over the bar and is now at Astoria, en route to Portland.

The English ship Northernhay is expected daily.

MILITIA MATTERS AT THE DALLES.

The Commander of the Third Regiment Will Soon Inspect.

The subjoined military orders were issued by Col. Morgan, under date of March 7

I. The commander of this regiment will make a tour of inspection to the different companies not later than March 15, 1890.

EAST PORTLAND NEWS NOTES.

A Number of Items Which Were Gathered by "The Oregonian" Reporter on His Daily Rounds.

Messrs. H. D McGuire and Silvey Stuart went to Albany yesterday on business.

The street commissioner put some patches on the Fourth street roadway yesterday.

B Blumenthal, brother of Abe Blumenthal, merchant of this city, is up from San Francisco.

Fifth street bridge across Sullivan's gulch is still closed up, much to the inconvenience of the public.

The Oregon Real Estate Company yesterday paid their city taxes, amounting to $2,237 29 It was quite a lift for the city.

A most enjoyable time was had by Lily lodge, I. O G T, Monday night at their hall A social known as the "weight social" was given.

M. M. Hunter was elected secretary and treasurer of the East Portland Building and Loan Association at the directors' meeting Monday night.

The board of fire delegates will meet Friday night, at which time it is expected some action will be taken on the resignation of the chief engineer, Henry Heyers.

Two little girls brought to the baby home $10 last week, which they had made by giving an entertainment. The gift was appreciated by the management of the home.

There are openings in the old Brooklyn bridge on the Milwaukie road large enough for a horse to get his foot through As there is a great travel over this bridge by teams, an accident is likely to happen at any time

Great truck loads of fire brick were hauled to the new sawmill on Clinton & McCoy's grounds yesterday It was interesting to see the drivers get the loads from Fifth street to the mill buildings, which space is soft ground

At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Centenary M. E. church, it was decided to proceed with the work of procuring subscriptions to the proposed $50 000 church. Practically $25,000 of this sum had been pledged Saturday last, and doubtless a fine church edifice will be erected

The 16-year-old son of Mr. James Scott, of Columbia Slough, has just completed an oil painting of Mount Hood which indicates excellent talent He has been at work on the picture for several months, and the blending of colors and artistic effect would be a credit to an older head. Mr. Scott will see that his son's talent is encouraged and developed.

V. Kraiz and others, interested in the street railway franchise granted at the last meeting of the council, met at the office of Raymond & Wagner Sunday, and decided to ask the common council for more time in which to file their bonds and commence work. By the terms of the franchise this is required to be done by April 1, which is entirely too short a time

A few bids were submitted to the school board of directors for a ten room building in Stephens addition, and the lowest bid for the woodwork was $18,000. The bid of Andrew Grafs, who received the contract for the woodwork on the twelve room building, was $10,725 Thus the lowest bid received for the twelve room building was more than $2000 lower than the lowest bid received for a ten room building These bids were for the woodwork There was not much difference in the other bids. The contracts awarded show that the cost of the twelve room building will be under $19,000 The next on the programme will be the adoption of plans for the Sunnyside building

MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

The Work on the Telegraph Line Progressing Rapidly—Other Work.

ANACORTES March 9.—[Special Correspondence]—The telegraph officials have been actively engaged all day making suitable arrangements for the establishment of an office here, and a force of men were busily employed on P street, digging the necessary holes preparatory to raising the telegraph poles

It is now an assured fact that the Manitoba Railway Co. will make Anacortes a terminal point, thus giving the city a direct connection with St Paul and whatever Jim Hill undertakes he invariably accomplishes

Meetings of influential citizens have been held, and decisions have been made to organize a club house, chamber of commerce and other institutions which are to be found in prominent cities. One of the best corners on P and Fifth streets has been secured for the new club, and a substantial building will be erected, under the auspices of the Club Building Association of Anacortes.

The steamship Umatilla, expected to arrive to-day from San Francisco, has not yet called here, but she is expected to reach here to-night, or to-morrow at the latest.

A large party went over to Guemes Island this morning on a shooting expedition and had good sport

To-day, being Sunday, there is little doing and few people about, the citizens realizing that the Sabbath is a good day to rest after the toils of the week.

So rapid has been the construction of buildings during the past ten days that there are now upwards of 250 buildings completed and not less than 100 tents and as soon as the fine weather settles down for good and work cannot be impeded these numbers will be materially increased

Now that the planking of streets and avenues has made good headway, attention has been turned to building sidewalks of a good, solid character, and fourteen feet wide, on either side so that now pedestrians can walk over the city without inconvenience.

Strangers continue to arrive every day from all parts, and the city presents quite a gay appearance.

March April May

Are the best months in which to purify your blood, for at no other season does the system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla as now. During the long, cold winter, the blood becomes thin and impure, the body becomes weak and tired, the appetite may be lost. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted to purify and enrich the blood, to create a good appetite and to overcome that tired feeling It increases in popularity every year, for it is the ideal spring medicine

"I have suffered for some years with eruptions on my face and neck After using five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, every blemish disappeared, and now my general health is excellent I believe it to be best medicine in the world" E. F. WALSH, Olalla, Oregon.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared from Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Mandrake, Dock, Juniper Berries, and other well known vegetable remedies, in such a peculiar manner as to derive the full medicinal value of each It will cure, when in the power of medicine, scrofula salt rheum, sores, boils pimples, all humors, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, indigestion, general debility, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints It overcomes that extreme tired feeling caused by change of climate, season, or life, and imparts life and strength to the whole system.

"I have used six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla for indigestion It has helped me a great deal I think it the best medicine for indigestion and dyspepsia." MRS. N. A. LAUDERDALE, 198 N Fifth street, San Jose, Cal

TRY A GLASS OF THE FAMOUS

WEINHARD'S BEER

The Summer Beverage of the Capitalist, the Merchant and the Laboring Man Alike.

LADY OF THE HOUSE—Do you still like our Charter Oak Stove as well as when you first got it, Mary?

SERVANT—Oh, every bit as well, Ma'am.

LADY OF THE HOUSE—I am expecting a friend to take dinner with us next week, on purpose to show her how nice our stove cooks everything, and I want you to have a nice dinner for us.

SERVANT—Indeed I will, Ma'am. There's no trouble to cook nice with that stove. The Wire Gauze Oven Doors makes it so much easier than other stoves I have been used to, and I have so much more time to make everything just right. Just look at that roll! I never have bad luck with bread, biscuits or cake, now.

LADY OF THE HOUSE—Why, how do you explain it?

SERVANT—Well, I don't have to watch everything so close for fear it will burn. You know how careful you have to be with a baked custard, it is so apt to burn on top before it is baked through. The Charter Oak bakes it perfectly without any danger of burning. And then in roasting a turkey, I don't have to keep basting it every five minutes. It roasts beautifully brown without it, and without drying it up like the tight ovens do. And you know how crisp the biscuits are without being hard and tough. You always praised my biscuits, but if it wasn't for the wire gauze oven door I know they wouldn't be near as nice. I hope I'll never have to cook anywhere again where they haven't got a Charter Oak Stove or Range.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF FOR PAIN. Best and cheapest medicine in the world

DR. A. L. COLE

This well known and reliable specialist treats nervous, chronic and private diseases, including lost manhood, also blood and skin diseases which result in swellings and sores. He treats successfully the effects of self abuse, which, left unchecked, causes loss of memory, vitality, softening of the spine and brain, heart disease, consumption, mortal despondency, bordering on insanity. He removes deformities of all kinds. He cures all diseases of women, restoring sexual desire. Dr Cole is master of all diseases. He is the greatest physician on the American continent. As a surgeon he has no equal. His French method of treating private diseases far excels all others. Remedies strictly private. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Terms reasonable. Patients treated at home. Correspondence [illegible]. Send 10 cents for pamphlet.
